Not Many White Pupils Expected To Attend Class

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (UPI)—Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and promptly prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and county school board went into session to complete final plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure formally voted to continue operation of the emergency facilities. Duncan C. Gibb, president of the foundation, said the group's board of directors felt the "emergency still exists" and agreed unanimously to operate the private classes for the remainder of the current school year. He said the foundation's 31 teachers had agreed to teach "for the period indicated."

Benson Argues For Reduced Farm Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things: Do away with production controls that don't control price. Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R-ND) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "You'd break every wheat farmer in the United States."

Young, long a critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

Air Force Tests Mystery Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A new, highly secret test rocket blasting a gray smoke trail roared aloft Monday on its first launching.

The Air Force declined to comment on the mystery missile other than to confirm it was fired. Sources said it was a two-stage solid fuel test vehicle.

SPECIALIST — Dr. Gordon Zubrod (above), clinical director of the National Cancer Institute of the National Institutes of Health, has been called in to help with treatment of cancer of John Foster Dulles at Walter Reed Hospital, where seriousness of the secretary of state's condition was discovered during a hernia operation. Top Specialist Joins Doctors Treating Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top specialist in cancer research was summoned Monday to consult on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness. At the capitol senators joined in silent prayer for his recovery.

The stricken Dulles, suffering from a recurrence of the cancer for which he was operated on in November 1956, which was discovered during a hernia operation Friday, sat in a chair in his quarters at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital for about 30 minutes.

Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, hospital commandant who performed Friday's surgery, said Dulles' condition continues satisfactory.

Announcing this information from Heaton, State Department press officer Lincoln White said radiation treatment for Dulles' glandular cancer in the abdomen is expected to begin this week.

White said Dr. Gordon Zubrod, clinical director of the National Cancer Institute of the National Institutes of Health, was called in to help with the treatment and presumably to try to determine the extent of the malignancy.

At the capitol, congressional leaders praised Dulles for the conduct of his secretariatship and, in the Senate, the membership stood in silent prayer for his recovery.

Shortly after the Senate met at noon, Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, after a conference with Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Senate Democrats had informally pledged cooperation with the administration in meeting foreign policy problems during Dulles' absence.

Johnson said he and Dulles "have both agreed and disagreed — yet it has never been difficult to work with him for the best interest of the nation."

Airliner Recalled After Bomb Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A bomb threat forced the recall Monday of a Trans World Airliner en route to Albuquerque, N. M., 31 minutes after it was airborne.

Tower officials received a telephone call from a man who asked if the plane had left, then said: "You'd better call it back. There's a bomb aboard. This is no crank."

Nunn, leader of the U. N. delegation to the Military Armistice Commission, told the Communists their luggage and asked each of the hijacking was "just another craft's 43 passengers and five example of the gangster-like crew members if they knew any methods employed by your side, one who might want to kill them."

Church And State Must Be Kept Separated—Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Religion holds nothing takes precedence and government must be kept over his oath to uphold the Constitution, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), said Monday.

Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, is considered a leading prospect for his party's presidential nomination in 1960, even though no member of his faith has ever been elected to that office.

The senator in an article in Look magazine declared himself strongly opposed to federal aid appointment of an ambassador to any for any church or religious school, the Vatican. Whatever advantages might be gained by a U. S. ambassador to the Vatican.

"Whatever one's religion in his private life may be, for the office-devisive effect at home."

West Asks Big 4 Talks On Germany

Notes To Kremlin Say Berlin Crisis Has War Danger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Three called on Russia Monday to join in a foreign ministers meeting, with East and West Germans attending, to settle the German crisis before it leads to war.

Virtually identical notes were delivered to the Kremlin by the United States, Britain and France. So was a similar note from West Germany.

They rejected Russia's Jan. 10 bid for a 28-nation German peace conference and suggested that a date and place be set by mutual Big Four agreement for a foreign ministers meeting on the whole German question.

The U. S. note restated the West's determination not to be driven out of Berlin by Soviet threats and demands. It did express willingness to negotiate all aspects of the problem.

U. S. Note Has Dulles Approval

The notes were worked out by allied diplomats at daily meetings in Washington and checked out with other Atlantic Pact countries at Paris. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles approved the U. S. note before going to the hospital last week for the hernia operation which revealed a recurrence of abdominal cancer.

Officials said they hoped Russia would respond favorably to the meeting could start in Geneva or Vienna in late April or early May.

The timing is important. The Soviets said Nov. 27 they would turn East Berlin over to East Germany in six months, which would be May 27, thereby giving the East Germans control of the West's access routes to West Berlin. The Russians also demanded withdrawal of allied forces from West Berlin and an East-West German "confederation."

Threat To World Peace

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the allied notes said.

They added that the Big Three "reserve the right to uphold by all appropriate means their communications with their sectors of Berlin."

The United States, Britain and France declared themselves ready for a foreign ministers meeting with Russia. They said the date, week between Greece and Turkey that Cyprus should become an independent republic.

Couple Robs Delaware Bank

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A pint-sized young man and woman held up a bank near here Monday, escaping with $4,972 and touching off a widespread search by Delaware State Police.

More than 50 troopers and three airplanes joined in scouring wooded areas on the Delaware-Maryland border.

The holdup victim, Winfred Hughes, cashier at West Dover Trust Co. of Hartly, said the pair came in Monday morning and calmly announced, "this is a hold-up."

They taped the hands of Hughes and his wife and forced into a back room two persons who came in during the holdup. They were The Rev. Leonard J. Mackiewicz, a Catholic priest, and Mrs. Charles G. Moore, a bank employee and wife of the Delaware motor vehicles commissioner.

Hughes described the man, who wore a bandanna mask, as about 23, 5 foot 5 and 135 pounds. He had light hair, wore a tan hat and a blue jacket.

His sidekick in crime of about the same age was a brunette of sallow complexion, wearing dark slacks and a man's work cap. She was about 5 foot 3 and 115 pounds. Hughes told police.

The pair escaped in a yellow coupe automobile.

Russians Again Deny Knowledge Of Fliers

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the United States in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

(The United States said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape recorded transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U. S. airmen killed in the crash but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Oil Lamp Overturns, 4 Children Die In Fire

Britain, Greece, Turkey Agree On Cyprus Plan

LONDON (UPI)—A Foreign Office spokesman announced Monday night that Britain, Greece and Turkey have reached full agreement on the substance of a solution of the Cyprus problem.

The announcement was made on the eve of the opening of a formal three nation conference in London which may lead to independence for the British Mediterranean island colony.

Monday among the foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey as well as side talks between British leaders and the exiled Greek Cypriot nationalist leader, Archbishop Makarios.

Both Makarios and Dr. Fazil Kutcheh, leader of the Turkish Cypriot minority, will sit in on Tuesday's conference following up on the Zurich agreement of last week between Greece and Turkey that Cyprus should become an independent republic.

The British Foreign Office spokesman said that foreign ministers Selwyn Lloyd of Britain, Evangelos Averoff of Greece and Fatin Zorlu of Turkey reached their agreement at the end of a three-hour meeting Monday evening.

He added that the foreign ministers, in their meeting Tuesday with Greek and Turkish Cypriot chiefs, will put forward the ideas of their governments on a basis of Cyprus solution.

He said they also would accept the basic principle which in the view of the three nations, should govern a solution for bringing peace to the British island colony that has been plagued by violence for four years.

Flood Menaces Indiana Farms

OAKTOWN, Ind. (UPI)—National Guardsmen worked feverishly Monday night to sandbag a weakened levee and save thousands of acres of Hoosier farmland from Wabash River floodwaters.

The worst Wabash flood in 46 years appeared to be losing its punch, however.

A break on the Oaktown levee would affect only a few farm homes. Upstream, at beleaguered West Terre Haute, weary volunteers and 250 guardsmen maintained their vigil at a weakened levee which separated the river from the town. But the river was dropping there and the levees looked as if they would hold.

National Guard units from Vincennes and Linton, Ind., were ordered onto the Oaktown dikes when it was feared that an old levee four miles west of town would burst.

Downstream, a flood crest 25 to 26 feet high was expected to sweep past the historic city of Vincennes Tuesday. The levees guarding the city were high enough to contain a 32-foot crest, however.

Retrial Of Former Cuban Army Major Is Recessed

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro's forces re-tried "No. 1 war criminal" Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco Monday in a military courtroom far removed from the circus atmosphere of the Sports Palace where the Batista henchman was tried and condemned last month to 30 years in prison.

Sosa Blanco was led in handcuffs to the court which was filled with representatives of the Cuban Bar Association, newsmen, and members of the Rotary, Lyceum and Lions clubs as spectators. The proceedings were being broadcast, as was the original 13-hour trial at the Sports Palace which Sosa Blanco himself had compared to the ordeals of the Christians in the Colosseum.

Maj. Humberto Sori Marin, the chief prosecutor for the army, said the re-trial was a "resumption" of the original proceedings in the Sports Palace.

The findings of that trial had been annulled in the wake of loud protests from other countries, particularly from attorneys and congressmen in the United States.

Sosa Blanco was accused of murders, torture, looting and arson while Batista's commander in Oriente Province of Eastern Cuba. He has been held in La Cabaña Fortress since his first trial.

The Batista man's appeal from his original death sentence was denied. Castro himself has vowed that Sosa Blanco will pay the penalty. But he has the right of appeal from the verdict at his re-trial.

The trial was adjourned at 5:30 p. m. until 10 a. m. Tuesday.

April Draft Call Lowest In Months

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army issued a call Monday for 7,000 draftees in April, the lowest number since late 1957.

The new call was 1,000 men below the March figure and 2,000 below January and February totals. The last time as few as 7,000 men were drafted was in the October-December period of 1957.

"Back Door" Financing Draws Fire

Democrats Turn Dirksen's Charge Back On President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower was accused Monday of resorting to "back door" federal spending in an effort to lay a balanced budget before the voters in the 1960 presidential election.

The new round in the battle of the budget broke out on the Senate floor when Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) accused the Democrats of making false economy claims. Democrats immediately turned the charge back on Eisenhower.

Dirksen said Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson ignored "back door" spending when he asserted last week that Congress had cut Eisenhower's budgets in the past six years.

Dirksen said Johnson did not take into account legislation that provided for direct lending or contract authority, spending authorizations for which no money was provided and other such maneuvers.

Charges "Back Door" Financing
When these are considered, he said, Congress voted more money than the President sought.

Such items, he told the Senate, "are what might be called the back door approach to the Treasury." He said it was "an interesting approach and how it fools the people."

Johnson said in reply that Eisenhower had just asked Congress to approve $3,175,000,000 in new obligations authority for the world bank and $1,375,000,000 for the International Monetary Fund, but wants the money charged off to this year's deficit.

He said this was not much different than "back door" financing.

Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) chimed in that the President was saying, in effect, "charge it all on '59, but we'll go to the country in '60 with a balanced budget."

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) said Eisenhower's action amounted to "slipping it on last year's account."

Castro Takes Over As Cuba's Prime Minister

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro stepped up to the premiership of Cuba Monday night with a vow he would carry out his revolutionary reforms as prime minister without presidential ambitions.

"I have no aspirations to the presidency," the bearded, 32-year-old rebel chief said.

He added that when the government of provisional President Manuel Urrutia lowered the presidential eligibility age from 35 to 30 it did not consult him.

Castro said his sole ambition was to push the revolutionary program of economic reform and a new deal for Cuban peasantry.

"What interests me," he said, "is that the revolution marches ahead."

Before the installation of Castro as prime minister he outlined his plans and hopes in a speech to the National Assn. of Architects.

His elevation to the premiership came a month and a half after his revolutionary movement chased the Batista dictatorship into Dominican exile.

Castro gave up his job as commander-in-chief of the army to take over the prime ministry. His brother Raul takes over as army chief.

Fidel Castro insisted he had never sought the top cabinet job but accepted it to push ahead the revolution's social and economic program.

Sources close to the new prime minister said they also expected him to keep his beard — now his internationally known trademark.

Castro was bubbling over with ideas for his new government post. If Cuba dedicates itself to honest government and a development program, he said, "in a few years...Cuba will have a standard of living superior to the United States and Russia...because those countries spend their money on 26,000 rockets and war material."

During the day he spoke on the need for agrarian reform, a huge housing program, reforms for the national lottery and other programs.

Alger Hiss, Wife Have Separated

NEW YORK (AP)—Alger Hiss and the wife who stood by him through his two sensational perjury trials have separated. Friends said Monday they knew of no legal action in the offing.

Mrs. Priscilla Hiss was beside her husband throughout the trials that ended in 1950. He was convicted of lying when he denied stealing government secrets for a Soviet spy ring.

She was waiting at the gate of Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary in 1954 when the former State Department official was released after serving 44 months.

Neither Hiss, 54, nor his wife, about the same age, would discuss the separation. Friends said Hiss has moved out of their East 8th Street apartment. He now works for a comb manufacturing firm.

Cause of the breakup of the 29-year marriage was not disclosed. The Hisses have a son, Anthony, 17. Mrs. Hiss also has a son by a previous marriage, Timothy, 30.

Warren County, Va., School Integration Ordered By Judge

Not Many White Pupils Expected To Attend Class

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (UPI)—Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and promptly prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and county school board went into session to complete final plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure formally voted to continue operation of the emergency facilities. Duncan C. Gibb, president of the foundation, said the group's board of directors felt the "emergency still exists" and agreed unanimously to operate the private classes for the remainder of the current school year. He said the foundation's 31 teachers had agreed to teach "for the period indicated."

Vote For Private Classes

White parents in the county, nestled in the gateway to the Shenandoah Valley, voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration. A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

Sobeloff told Warren County Commonwealth's Attorney William J. Phillips he saw no reason to "justify interfering" with Federal District Judge John Paul's order to reopen the school and admit the Negro students.

Says No Excuse For Hysteria

NAACP Chief Counsel Thurgood Marshall said the school board had no excuse to permit "public hysteria to take over" its functions. Marshall said the vote by the white parents had nothing to do with the desegregation suit.

Phillips, arguing that it would be a "diservice" to make the white students shift their classes again in little more than four months, said the school board was justified in trying to determine what would happen if the high school reopened.

Sobeloff remarked: "One way to find out is to reopen the school."

UNC Demands Reds Return ROK Plane

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)—The United Nations Command demanded Monday the Communists return a South Korean airplane hijacked a year ago.

The Communists immediately rejected the request, charging the command was trying to create a smokescreen around recent political unrest in Korea as a result of the recently-passed security bill.

U. S. Navy Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn, leader of the U. N. delegation to the Military Armistice Commission, told the Communists the hijacking was "just another example of the gangster-like methods employed by your side."

Top Specialist Joins Doctors Treating Dulles

The stricken Dulles, suffering from a recurrence of the cancer for which he was operated on in November 1956, which was discovered during a hernia operation Friday, sat in a chair in his quarters at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital for about 30 minutes.

Britain, Greece, Turkey Agree On Cyprus Plan

The announcement was made on the eve of the opening of a formal three nation conference in London which may lead to independence for the British Mediterranean island colony.

It followed preliminary talks on Monday among the foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey as well as side talks between British leaders and the exiled Greek Cypriot nationalist leader, Archbishop Makarios.

The bureau added: "Above normal temperatures are predicted over the southern third of the country and also for the entire area west of the divide. In areas not specified, near normal averages with large temperature fluctuations are in prospect."

"Precipitation over the eastern two-thirds of the nation is expected to be subnormal over the South and also over the northern tier of states. Amounts exceeding normal are expected in West Coast states. In unspecified areas, near normal precipitation is indicated."

OAKTOWN, Ind. (UPI)—National Guardsmen worked feverishly Monday night to sandbag a weakened levee and save thousands of acres of Hoosier farmland from Wabash River floodwaters.

The worst Wabash flood in 46 years appeared to be losing its punch, however.

A break on the Oaktown levee would affect only a few farm homes. Upstream, at beleaguered West Terre Haute, weary volunteers and 250 guardsmen maintained their vigil at a weakened levee which separated the river from the town. But the river was dropping there and the levees looked as if they would hold.

National Guard units from Vincennes and Linton, Ind., were ordered onto the Oaktown dikes when it was feared that an old levee four miles west of town would burst.

Downstream, a flood crest 25 to 26 feet high was expected to sweep past the historic city of Vincennes Tuesday. The levees guarding the city were high enough to contain a 32-foot crest, however.

Retrial Of Former Cuban Army Major Is Recessed

HAVANA (UPI)—Fidel Castro's forces re-tried "No. 1. war criminal" Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco Monday in a military courtroom far removed from the circus atmosphere of the Sports Palace where the Batista henchman was tried and condemned last month.

Sosa Blanco was led in handcuffs to the court which was filled with representatives of the Cuban Bar Association, newsmen and members of the Rotary, Lyceum and Lions clubs as spectators. The proceedings were being broadcast, as was the original 13-hour trial at the Sports Palace which Sosa Blanco himself had compared to the ordeals of the Christians in the Colosseum.

Maj. Humberto Sori Marin, the chief prosecutor for the army, said the re-trial was a "resump-

"Back Door" Financing Draws Fire

Democrats Turn Dirksen's Charge Back On President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower was accused Monday of resorting to "back door" federal spending in an effort to lay a balanced budget before the voters in the 1960 presidential election.

The new round in the battle of the budget broke out on the Senate floor when Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) accused the Democrats of making false economy claims. Democrats immediately turned the charge back on Eisenhower.

Dirksen said Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson ignored "back door" spending when he asserted last week that Congress had cut Eisenhower's budgets in the past six years.

Dirksen said Johnson did not take into account legislation that provided for direct lending or contract authority, spending authorizations for which no money was provided and other such maneuvers.

Charges "Back Door" Financing When these are considered, he said, Congress voted more money than the President sought.

Such items, he told the Senate, "are what might be called the back door approach to the Treasury." He said it "an interesting approach and how it fools the people."

Johnson said in reply that Eisenhower had just asked Congress to approve $3,175,000,000 in new obligations authority for the world bank and $1,375,000,000 for the International Monetary Fund, but wants the money charged off to this year's deficit.

He said this was not much different than "back door" financing.

Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) chimed in that the President was saying, in effect, "charge it all on '59, but we'll go to the country in '60 with a balanced budget."

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) said Eisenhower's action amounted to "slipping it on last year's account."

Cites Roll Calls

Johnson cited a number of 1958 roll calls in which he said Dirksen "went in that back door with us" on the housing bill, highway construction bill, area development and other measures involving commitments to spend without direct appropriations.

Dirksen said Republicans were "determined the whole story shall be told" in the budget fight and "that every effort to bypass the appropriations committee or to mislead the people about the budget will be vigorously exposed."

Alger Hiss, Wife Have Separated

NEW YORK (AP)—Alger Hiss and the wife who stood by him through his two sensational perjury trials have separated. Friends said Monday they knew of no legal action in the offing. Mrs. Priscilla Hiss was beside her husband throughout the trials that ended in 1950. He was convicted of lying when he denied stealing government secrets for a Soviet spy ring.

She was waiting at the gate of Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary in 1954 when the former State Department official was released after serving 44 months.

Neither Hiss, 54, nor his wife, about the same age, would discuss the separation. Friends said Hiss has moved out of their East 8th Street apartment. He now works for a comb manufacturing firm.

Cause of the breakup of the 29-year marriage was not disclosed. The Hisses have a son, Anthony, 17. Mrs. Hiss also has a son by a previous marriage, Timothy, 30.

April Draft Call Lowest In Months

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army issued a call Monday for 7,000 draftees in April, the lowest number since late 1957.

The new call was 1,000 men below the March figure and 2,000 below January and February totals. The last "draft" as few as 7,000 men were drafted was in the October-December period of 1957.

Cronin, Vaughn Question Value Of Proposed New Md. Boat Act

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Two members of the Board of Natural Resources Monday questioned provisions of a bill calling for state licensing and regulation of all small boats in Maryland.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the Department of Research and Education, said removal of a 10 horsepower exemption for the licensing — as provided by the federal government — sounded like a revenue-raising measure for the state instead of safety feature.

And Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, suggested that enforcement of the measure by the state — and the money will go into Tidewater Fisheries Commission the state's general fund which could be an expensive proposition governor can use for general if it is intended for inland streams budget purposes.

Reddick's Appeal Spurned By Court U.S. Industrial Output Shows January Rise

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals Monday affirmed Dr. Robert H. Reddick's conviction and five-year prison sentence for forgery of medical credentials.

The ruling ended a long series of legal skirmishes between the state psychiatrist and the attorney general's office over operations of a board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners which Reddick once served as secretary-treasurer.

The state board was abolished by the General Assembly in 1957 and its functions were handed over to the Medical and Surgical Faculty as a result of its licensing operations.

Dr. Reddick, on his third appearance before Maryland's highest court, had appealed from his conviction of forging and unlawfully placing a public seal on a medical license issued to Joseph Biscardi, a Brooklyn, N. Y., automobile mechanic, in October, 1957.

Labor Reforms Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill designed to wrest control of certain labor unions from "mobsters" and power-mad demagogues was introduced Monday by Rep. Graham A. Bardin (D-N.C.), chairman of the House Labor Committee.

Among other things, union officers would have to get the approval of the membership, in secret ballots, before a strike could be called or dues changed.

Bardin said his committee will begin hearings later this week on his bill and two other major labor-management proposals. These two, which are less drastic and broad, are the Eisenhower administration's bill and one written by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and former Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.).

Unlike the other two bills, Bardin's proposal does not rely principally on provisions for disclosure of union financial records and court authority to hold union officers accountable for administration of union funds.

Bardin proposed that unions be required to write protection against abuses of power into union constitutions.

Beck Tax Evasion Trial Nears Jury

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — The long income tax evasion trial of former Teamsters Union President Dave Beck neared the jury Monday after the defense called but one witness and rested its case.

Final arguments are scheduled to start at 9 a. m. Tuesday. The case was in its 58th day Monday.

The jury was sent home for the day after Carl Houston, Seattle accountant who helped prepare some of Beck's income tax returns, completed his testimony. The Teamsters Union.

Kidnap Attempt Suspect Seized

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A Washington man was held Monday under $5,000 bond in connection with the attempted abduction of a Safeway Store manager in Carmody Hills.

Police identified the suspect as Samuel B. Keys, 43, of the 3300 block C St. S. E.

Officers said they were given this account:

Ralph A. Dixon, 29, assistant manager of the Safeway at 2901 Minnesota Ave. S. E., was driving to his home in Carmody Hills, late Saturday night when two men in a car forced him off the road at 71st and F Sts.

The passenger in the second car, his face masked with a stocking cap, got out, yanked open Dixon's car door, stuck a gun in his face and said: "You're going with me."

Dixon slid over from the driver's seat and the man, attempting to drive off, stalled the engine. While trying to get the car started the man laid the pistol on the seat. Dixon grabbed it, hit the man, and the two grappled, and then rolled onto the road. The driver of the other car sped away.

Dixon finally struggled on top of the man, and then told him to go away.

The man ran twenty minutes later, Keys was found wandering several blocks away.

He was arrested and treated for head lacerations.

Police said Keys told them he was angry at Dixon because he had made "goo-goo eyes" at Mrs. Keys in the Safeway Store. But police quoted Mrs. Keys as saying she had never been in the store.

Stolen Watches Mailed To Jeweler

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP) — Jeweler Richard McDorman was surprised and thankful when he opened the unsigned parcel he got in the mail. It was part of the 62 women's watches taken last week in a $3,270 burglary at his store.

Police Chief John S. Holland theorized the box, mailed from Princess Anne, was sent by the thief or someone who shared in the loot. The person evidently wanted to get the "hot" jewelry off his hands to avoid detection, said Holland.

After washing action starts, bleach is added slowly to provide uniform bleaching action. Only Maytag provides this automatic delay and pre-dilution.

No bleach damage to clothes. By providing automatic dilution and properly timed injection, Maytag prevents heavy concentrations of bleach from coming in contact with clothes. Gone forever are the holes in clothes, the weakened fibres, the uneven bleaching associated with strong liquid bleaches.

No half-hearted detergents. Modern detergents contain brightening agents which are destroyed by liquid bleach when bleach and detergents are added to wash water at the same time. By delaying the introduction of bleach until after the washing action has started, Maytag preserves the full effectiveness of your detergent and clothes come out sparkling clean, white, and color bright, wash after wash after wash.

It has been estimated that this year the state will raise between $625,000 and $1,000,000 a year — depending on the exact count of boats in the state — and the money will go into the state's general fund which could be an expensive proposition for the state instead of safety feature.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Monday affirmed Dr. Robert H. Reddick's conviction and five-year prison sentence for forgery of medical credentials.

U.S. Industrial Output Shows January Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industrial output edged higher in January, indicating the business recovery is still in motion despite the employment slack and the stock market jitters.

The Federal Reserve Board announced Monday its industrial production index advanced to 143 per cent of the 1947-9 average — up 1 point from December and within 2 points of the pre-recession level of 145 months ago.

The board's monthly summary of business conditions suggested that the pace of the recovery has slowed, but hardly more than usual at this stage of a slump-and-recovery cycle.

"Industrial production and construction activity continued to expand in January and retail sales remained at record levels," the summary said. It also reported that non-farm employment had increased somewhat while unemployment rose about seasonally.

"From mid-January to mid-February wholesale prices of industrial commodities advanced further," the summary said. "Common stock prices receded from peak levels."

The report took some of the chill from last week's disclosure that unemployment rose by 616,000 in January, while total employment fell by 1,367,000. This was approximately a normal had-weather, post-Christmas trend, but it disappointed those who had hoped for a better-than-seasonal showing.

With 6 per cent of the labor force still out of work, the board's staff noted in a study that employment gains have lagged further behind production and income gains than in either of the two earlier postwar recessions. Since September, the staff said, "There has been little evidence of any extensive rehiring of workers other than for seasonal reasons."

Delegates Set Meeting With City

A tentative date for a meeting of the Mayor and Council with the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly has been set. The delegation, headed by Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Driscoll said a poll of the officials at a previously suggested time. Driscoll added that he and several other members will be in Cumberland next Monday and a suggested meeting on that day at 8:30 a. m. in the office of the Mayor. Mayor Keech said he will list as the nominee for the fact the Allegany County Board of Commissioners regarding the suggestion so that members of that group can also consult with the delegation regarding county problems.

An informal meeting of the council was held following yesterday's weekly session to discuss items which will be brought to the attention of the legislators. An objection to the city's sewerage charges was made at yesterday's council session by Glenn I. Campbell, 18 Penn. Avenue. Campbell said that he considered unfair the practice of basing the sewage charge on a minimum use of 2,000 gallons of water, explaining that he felt sure he has not used that amount.

Delegates Set Meeting With City

A tentative date for a meeting of the Mayor and Council with the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly has been made by Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the delegation.

In a letter to Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Driscoll said a poll of the delegation indicated the members would be unable to meet with city officials at a previously suggested time.

Driscoll added that he and several other members will be in Cumberland next Monday and suggested meeting on that day at 8:30 a. m. in the office of the mayor.

Mayor Keech said he will contact the Allegany County Board of Commissioners regarding the suggestion so that members of that group can also consult with the delegation regarding county problems.

An informal meeting of the council was held following yesterday's weekly session to discuss items which will be brought to the attention of the legislators.

An objection to the city's sewerage charges was made at yesterday's council session by Glenn I. Campbell, 18 Penn Avenue.

Campbell said that he considered unfair the practice of basing the sewage charge on a minimum use of 2,000 gallons of water, explaining that he felt sure he has not used that amount.

Dr. Frances Dysinger Will Address Lutheran Women

A combined meeting of all women of St. John's and St. Luke's Lutheran churches will be held Thursday with Dr. Frances Dysinger, Philadelphia, as the speaker. Field representative of the United

Washington, President Discussed

A talk by Dr. Howard Briggs, head of the history department, at State Teachers College, Frostburg, featured the meeting of the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club recently, at the club house. Mrs. Robert M. Bruce presided and introduced the speaker.

Dr. Briggs received his AB and Ph.D. degrees from Johns Hopkins; then taught at Goucher College, the University of Vermont, Randolph Macon Woman's College, Coker College of South Carolina, and had four years of government service during World War II.

Dr. Briggs presented George Washington's role in history not as a man, not as a personality, nor as a general, but as the first president of the United States, and the relation of this position to the development of the new republic. He began with a resume of the events from the first election to the triumph of the first inauguration on April 30, 1789.

The speaker gave some information about the choice of a title for the new chief executive and discussed the controversy that arose when one group protested the use of "Mr. President" as being too plebeian, suitable only for the leader of a cricket club. On the other side there were those who felt that "Excellency" and "Your Highness" were far too lofty, and smacked of royalty and feudal aristocracy. Here, Dr. Briggs brought out the fact that even though striving for the democratic ideal and a "classless" society, the realists of that day recognized the problem of the "few and the many" and foresaw that it was inevitable that class levels would emerge and that the separation between the privileged and the masses would continue to exist in some form.

The speaker evoked an image of the past with his description of the exquisite fans, rich brocades, satin knee breeches, and lace ruffles of the ladies and gentlemen who went to the first inaugural ball. This ball, said Dr. Briggs, was influential in launching the new country both socially and politically. He next discussed the two men who were to play such important roles in the early history. These men, Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson, were characterized as astute politicians whose perception and vision contributed tremendously not only to their own day and generation but to all the generations to come. Here, Dr. Briggs digressed from the serious to relate an incident concerning Jefferson's dilemma when he fell victim to the subtle strategy of being "wined and dined" into excessive affability and, subsequently, into a mood receptive to a policy matter which he normally would have been expected to oppose, and which, indeed, he did indignantly reject and deny sometime later.

Dr. Briggs' final topic was an enumeration and discussion of the measures introduced at the first Congress. Although several of these measures: The Tariff Act of 1789, the Federal Judiciary Act, the creation of a Cabinet, and the establishment of the first National Bank were important historically and politically, the speaker said that actually it is the fifth measure which was "Alexander Hamilton's Report on the Credit of the United States" that is regarded today, along with the Emancipation Proclamation, as being one of the most significant and far-reaching documents of the Republic.

In conclusion, Dr. Briggs paid familiar and beloved tribute to George Washington, who, as Father of his Country, was always "First in War, First in Peace, and First in the Hearts of his Countrymen."

Lutheran Church Women and official of the Woman's Auxiliary. Dr. Dysinger will discuss the "united plan of women's work," which is followed by 55 per cent of the congregations of the denomination. She will answer questions relative to the local situation helping to interpret the plan for the two groups. The meeting will be at St. John's at 7:30.

Other announcements made at the meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of St. John's, held at the home of Mrs. F. G. Hicks, South Street, include the Mountain District spring conference, which will be at St. John's April 21 at 3 p. m., with registration at 2:30, and April 12 a mission study will be conducted by Dr. Rollin G. Shaffer, New York City, assistant director of Lutheran World Action. It will be at St. John's preceded by a dinner at noon.

A Week of Prayer service is being held with Mrs. Robert Mann leader Sunday; Mrs. Merle Shumaker, Monday; Mrs. A. J. Weber, Tuesday; Mrs. D. A. Roth, Thursday; Mrs. George Alexander, Friday. Services are at 2 in the church chapel.

Mrs. Mann presided at the meeting. It was announced that the sewing group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Roth, completed one unit of the Dorcus project of 12 girls dresses and 12 boys suits for the Lutheran World Relief. The lesson topic, "Mittles for the new chief executive" by Mrs. Raymond C. Wilt, assisted by Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Shumaker, and Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Leroy Aronholt conducted devotions assisted by Mrs. Hicks. The meeting closed with the missionary benediction. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Aronholt cohostess. Seventeen members attended.

Opti-Mrs. To Meet

The Opti-Mrs. Club will discuss plans for an anniversary dinner in March at the meeting tomorrow at 8 in the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Mrs. George Eyer will preside.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. George Fey Jr., Mrs. Byron Kight, Mrs. Lester Hudson and Mrs. Allan Staggers.

Legislators Duck Final Vote On Liquor Bill

Measure Returned To Committee

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Liquor legislation met an unexpected early death on the House floor Monday when delegates decided to duck a final vote on the controversial issue and referred it back to the Temperance Committee.

The vote was 56-40 on the referral motion. The 45 minutes of debate which preceded the roll-call made it clear that delegates were choosing between life or death for the three resolutions.

Before the House at the amendment stage — and not due for a final vote until Tuesday — were three proposed constitutional amendments.

They would have allowed the voters to decide in 1960 whether to legalize liquor-by-the-drink, outlaw all intoxicating liquor, or retain the present state monopoly system.

The decisions to kill the resolutions were made in separate, closed-door caucuses of House Democrats and Republicans preceding the debate on Majority Leader T. E. Myles' motion to send the measures back to committee.

Democrats reportedly voted 39-37 to avoid a final floor vote while the 15 House Republicans were "80 per cent" in favor of referral according to Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio).

Del. W. E. Chilton (D-Kanawha), a leader of the "wet" faction, later told the House he was "amazed that the two parties had to caucus on this matter to get people out of the hook."

But veteran "dry" Del. George Rainden (R-Mason) indicated that Myles' procedure in disposing of the bills was doing delegates a favor by letting some of them avoid possible "political suicide" by having to vote on the measures.

Leading the fight against Myles' motion was Del. J. E. Watson (D-Marion), sponsor of the two wet-dry measures. The third status-quo resolution had been submitted by Del. W. T. Brotherton (D-Kanawha) who has a "dry" voting record.

"The people back home want people in the Legislature who have the guts to vote on a bill at passage stage," Watson said, adding that the referral motion meant evasion of the issue.

Watson denied "innuendo" to the effect that he was in the pay of liquor interests, saying his only wish was to submit the question to popular vote.

"After 26 years, the people of this state should have a chance to say what they want," he stated.

Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio) also opposed the motion, "speaking not as minority leader, but for the three-member Ohio County delegation."

"We feel this matter should be voted on its merits," Seibert said. "It is a matter of great public interest."

Del. Dan Wells (D-Mercer) told the House he objected strongly to statements made by "dry" leaders at a public hearing on the issue last Wednesday, particularly that "you cannot be a Christian and vote to put these measures up to a vote of the people."

"I searched my soul... I looked into the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Apostles' Creed. And I find nothing in these that would prohibit the people of West Virginia from voting on a constitutional amendment," he said. "Religion should be removed from this question."

The only delegate besides Rainden speaking in favor of the motion — Myles took no part in the debate — was Del. J. C. Cruikshank who asked: "Can you make West Virginia one bit better by establishing a saloon on every corner?"

Other dry spokesmen remained silent, knowing that the caucuses showed they had the votes to carry Myles' motion.

The liquor issue has come up in the House of Delegates at nearly every regular session in the past decade but has never received the two-thirds approval to put a question to the vote of the people.

Legislators Duck Final Vote On Liquor Bill

Measure Returned To Committee

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Liquor legislation met an unexpected early death on the House floor Monday when delegates decided to duck a final vote on the controversial issue and referred it back to the Temperance Committee.

The vote was 56-40 on the referral motion. The 45 minutes of debate which preceded the roll-call made it clear that delegates were choosing between life or death for the three resolutions.

Before the House at the amendment stage — and not due for a final vote until Tuesday — were three proposed constitutional amendments.

They would have allowed the voters to decide in 1960 whether to legalize liquor-by-the-drink, outlaw all intoxicating liquor, or retain the present state monopoly system.

The decisions to kill the resolutions were made in separate, closed-door caucuses of House Democrats and Republicans preceding the debate on Majority Leader T. E. Myles' motion to send the measures back to committee.

Democrats reportedly voted 39-27 to avoid a final floor vote while the 15 House Republicans were "80 per cent" in favor of referral according to Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio).

Del. W. E. Chilton (D-Kanawha), a leader of the "wet" faction, later told the House he was "amazed that the two parties had to caucus on this matter to get people off the hook."

But veteran "dry" Del. George Rainder (R-Mason) indicated that Myles' proposal in disposing of the bills was doing delegates a favor by letting some of them avoid possible "political suicide" by having to vote on the measures.

Leading the fight against Myles' motion was Del. J. E. Watson (D-Marion), sponsor of the two wet-dry measures. The third status-quo resolution had been submitted by Del. W. T. Brotherton (D-Kanawha) who has a "dry" voting record.

"The people back home want people in the Legislature who have the guts to vote on a bill at passage stage," Watson said, adding that the referral motion meant evasion of the issue.

Watson denied "innuendo" to the effect that he was in the pay of liquor interests, saying his only wish was to submit the question to popular vote.

"After 26 years, the people of this state should have a chance to say what they want," he stated.

Minority Leader George H. Seibert (R-Ohio) also opposed the motion, "speaking not as minority leader, but for the three-member Ohio County delegation."

"We feel this matter should be voted on its merits," Seibert said. "It is a matter of great public interest."

Del. Dan Wells (D-Mercer) told the House he objected strongly to statements made by "dry" leaders at a public hearing on the issue last Wednesday, particularly that "you cannot be a Christian and vote to put these measures up to a vote of the people."

"I searched my soul. I looked into the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Apostles' Creed. And I find nothing in these that would prohibit the people of West Virginia from voting on a constitutional amendment," he said. "Religion should be removed from this question."

The only delegate besides Rainder speaking in favor of the motion — Myles took no part in the debate — was Del. J. C. Cruikshank who asked: "Can you make West Virginia one bit better by establishing a saloon on every corner?"

Other dry spokesmen remained silent, knowing that the caucuses showed they had the votes to carry Myles' motion.

The liquor issue has come up in the House of Delegates at nearly every regular session in the past decade but has never received the two-thirds approval to put a question to the vote of the people.

The twin problems of the city's financial condition and maintenance of its streets came up for discussion yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

Street Commissioner John J. Long brought the related matters to the attention of the council by stating that Street Superintendent Andrew Heller had informed him of the deplorable condition of Frederick Street from Linden to the new paving which extends to the northern limits of the street.

Commissioner Long said the street superintendent was concerned about the situation since it has deteriorated to the point where there is no base for repairs. Patching which has been done does not hold up, the commissioner continued, largely because of much traffic by heavy vehicles.

Members of the council were asked to submit suggestions for possible improvement. Commissioner Long adding that there is a need for a long range planning program and permanently-paved streets.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the Street Department is not alone in the urgent need of more money, and that care and caution must be exercised in any department's expenditures. He added that the Street Department is not the responsibility of the Mayor and Council, but to the department head.

Commissioner Light also stated that he was aware that Commissioner Long's budget had been cut, but that the cut had been made in the public property portion of the department and that the commissioner should do the best with what money is available.

He also reminded Commissioner Long that the city has obligations which were incurred by the previous administration.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder pointed out that each department head needs time for study so that the correct decision can be reached in determining expenditures. The best possible use should be made of any money available, she asserted.

Commissioner Long answered the statements by explaining that he had not brought the matter up to create ill-feeling, but felt that the condition of the city's streets was a major problem facing all members of the Council.

He said his department was operating within its budget and felt that the available funds were being used efficiently. Commissioner Long added that he felt his suggestion of a $500,000 bond issue to take care of streets under a four-year plan was the business of the Mayor and Council and not the Street Department alone, since such a plan would benefit all citizens.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech asked Commissioner Long of the possibility of having repairs to streets by utility firms done under the supervision of the city engineer. Such a procedure, he continued, would insure that the work is done correctly and might eliminate the necessity of follow-up repairs.

City Council Discusses Problems Camp Escapees Back In Custody

Three escapees from the State Forest Camp for Boys at New Germany, Garrett County, are all back in custody.

One youth surrendered to City Police last week, while the second was picked up by Cpl. Harry S. Bosley and Trooper Willis Foreman as he sat in a restaurant along U. S. Route 40, a few miles west of Cumberland.

The third youth was apprehended by a former Cumberlander after a wild automobile chase with speeds up to 100 miles per hour.

Trooper Robert (Clem) Snyder, formerly of this city and now stationed at the State Police barracks in Frederick, arrested the third youth Saturday after chasing him through the mountains between Hancock and Frederick.

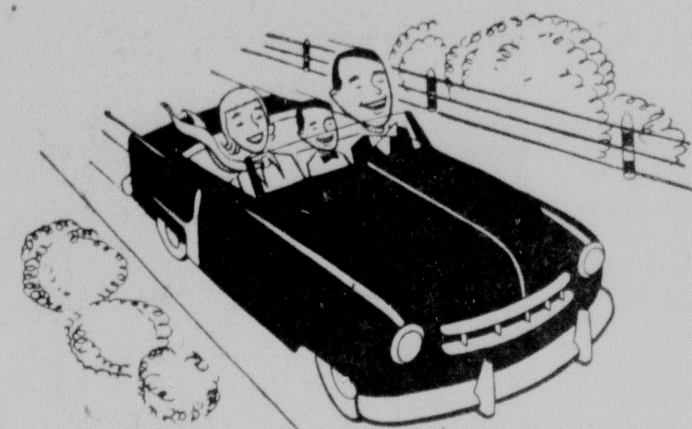

Trooper Snyder said he spotted the youth driving toward Frederick and attempted to flag him down. The youth stepped on the gas and raced toward Frederick. Trooper Snyder said as he entered Frederick the youth turned into West Patrick Street, head-

Both youths nabbed in Cumberland were returned to the forestry camp, while State Police are still holding the third youth in Frederick.

A Controversial New Proposal

A proposal placed before a meeting of the American Society of Criminology in Washington, D. C., is certain to provoke a great deal of controversy, although its initial impact may be cooled somewhat by somber reflection. This a plan presented by a Michigan physician to allow condemned prisoners to volunteer their bodies for live medical experiments culminating in their execution.

Dr. Jack Kevorkian, author of the plan, received some support from other members of the medical profession and at least one prominent clergyman—Dean Francis B. Sayre Jr. of the Washington Cathedral—who said: "If a man wants to offer his own body, it is his privilege."

Dr. Kevorkian's suggested approach was to allow those prisoners awaiting execution to volunteer their bodies for experimentation, retaining the right to change their minds up to one week prior to the date of execution. All experiments would be conducted under normally prescribed sedation, and after the experiment the condemned man would be put to death as painlessly as possible.

This, contends the physician, would not only advance the cause of medical research immeasurably, but would provide a less painful death than the electric chair or gas chamber. The experiments themselves would be no more discomforting than operations willingly submitted to by thousands of hospital patients every day, he said.

With legal executions in the United States averaging more than 100 a year for the last 10 years, Dr. Kevorkian believes this waste at least could have benefited medical science. "Medical science would be decades in advance of where we now are if the bodies of these men could have been used in research," he said. "We can perform 10 million experiments on mice and rats and it means nothing until you try it on men." Human vivisection is a provocative idea, certainly, but properly administered it might extract at least some good from the ruined lives of society's condemned men.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

John Foster Dulles

It would seem that John Foster Dulles was born to be Secretary of State. His education was in the direction of international law. His grandfather, John W. Foster, after whom he was named, was Secretary of State in Benjamin Harrison's Cabinet; his uncle, Robert Lansing, was Secretary of State in Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet, and it was Lansing who took Dulles to Paris to see diplomacy at work at the last peace conference this world has known.

It can be said of John Foster Dulles that he has been in and out of the State Department all of his adult life. He started as secretary of The Hague Peace Conference in 1907 (Theodore Roosevelt's Administration). Ten years later, he was a special agent of the State Department in Central America. Since then his public career has been enormous and was finally capped by becoming Secretary of State to President Eisenhower.

Dulles was educated at Princeton, George Washington University and at the Sorbonne and is one of the few Secretaries of State who can speak other languages than English. I recall visiting him in his New York residence before the 1952 Republican Convention and during our discussion, I was able to say to him that although he favored General Eisenhower for President, Senator Robert A. Taft had told me that if nominated and elected he would have John Foster Dulles as his Secretary of State.

Dulles inherited a difficult task as Secretary of State, the difficulties increased and became more complex as his years in that office continued. He not only had to face the problem of liquidating a war which had no victor, but he was called upon to deal with a new device in international relations, the cold war, a creation of Soviet Russia but regarded by some nations as characteristically American. For this, he has been unusually equipped. Few men in this country have devoted as much time and effort and understanding to amassing a working knowledge of Marxism and its application to the Russian Revolution. Long before he became Secretary of State, Dulles studied the psychology of the Russian mind as affected by the Revolution.

He had read enormously in Leninist literature, and could quote at length from some of the works of Stalin. He did not come to his task a starry-eyed liberal or an unregenerated reactionary. He came a man of knowledge who knew the enemy he faced.

While others were taken in by Soviet trickery and the whetting of American appetites by offers of contracts, some of which never went beyond the offer stage, Dulles grasped the nature of Soviet imperialism and its dangers to the United States. His problem has been not to cave in before the Russian attack while at the same time holding the loyalty of our allies who face different and diverting problems.

There have been times when Dulles was extraordinarily unpopular in Europe as well as in the United States. This was not altogether due to Russian propaganda. The man who has often to say, "No!", is never too popular. And it has been Dulles's lot to say, "No!", not only to the Russians but to our allies. Furthermore, in the United States many ambitious men who would have appreciated being his successor, never failed to down-grade this able man. He never permitted himself to become involved in personal controversies. He went about his business, travelling from country to country, serving his own people, seeking to preserve our nation's dignity, until his physical strength exhausted, he was forced to see to himself. Few men have served America better.

One can be thankful to God that this is not written as an obituary. We can only pray that his health will be restored. And yet, if it were an obituary, I could not say more. He follows a line of noble figures in our history, Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall, James Madison, James Monroe, Daniel Webster, John Hay, Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and among these he will not be measured as unworthy, for he has never compromised with his basic duty—to keep America free and strong and at peace if possible. His task has been enormous. Few men could have lasted at it as long as he has. He Never Thinks About The Rope

Warnings From The Middle Eastern Volcano

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

If the President of Venezuela briskly dismissed the independents in his Cabinet, and replaced them with Communists and allies of the Communists, we should all sit up and take notice and even worry a little. Something very similar has now happened in Iraq. Besides being the second of the Arab lands, next in influence to Egypt, Iraq has exactly the same practical importance as Venezuela—the importance that goes with oil wells. Yet the same developments that would focus the whole nation's attention on Venezuela, are treated as quite inconsequential in Iraq.

Maybe this is because what has happened in Iraq is not merely far away, but also obscure and confusing on the surface. In distant Baghdad, one group of ministers with doubtful affiliations and difficult Arab names is replaced by another group of ministers with equally difficult names and even more doubtful affiliations. So why worry?

The reasons to worry are squarely rooted in the history of the revolutionary Iraqi government of Brig. Abdul Karim Kassem. In brief, when the old regime was overthrown last year, the new government was composed of two different elements—the army officers who had led the revolution, and the politicians of the clandestine National Front Committee who had led the secret agitation for a revolution.

The politicians' National Front Committee was in turn composed of representatives of four parties, the Baath, the Istiqlal, the National Democrats, and the Communist, who had formed this grouping after the Suez crisis. Finally, there was a sharp distinction between the first two non-Communist parties, the Baath and the Istiqlal, and the third in the group, the National Democrats. Having made a pact with the Communists some years earlier, the National Democrats were already heavily infiltrated. But the Baath and the Istiqlal parties were not yet Communist-infiltrated, and were closely linked to Egypt.

Originally, then, the new government of Iraq included all the former opposition parties, but was dominated by the army officers who had overthrown the old government. A struggle soon broke out between the two most important army officers, the head of the government, Brig. Kassem, and his former chief collaborator, Col. Abdel Salem Aref. Aref, who sought to gain support by calling for union between Iraq and Egypt, was eventually arrested on a treason charge. He has now been tried and sentenced to death.

On the announcement of the death sentence of Aref, all the ministers of the two parties free of Communist influence, the Baath and the Istiqlal, were removed or resigned from the government. The Communists and National Democrats who held office meanwhile stayed on, and the resigning ministers were replaced by additional National Democrats and some men vaguely classified as "leftists."

This change can only mean an enormous increase of Communist influence in the Iraqi government. In addition, scores of persons who were likely to oppose the growing Communist influence have been summarily arrested on vague charges. Finally, the army, which used to be at least 90 per cent nationalist and non-Communist, has also been infiltrated in recent months by more and more Communists and Communist-sympathizers.

Brig. Kassem, who is politically inexperienced, always accepted Communist support against Col. Aref. But he has also made occasional gestures towards controlling the Communists, when they too seemed to threaten his personal authority. For example, he suppressed the popular militia which the Communists were organizing in competition with the army. But after the changes in his government, it is hard to see how Brig. Kassem can make such gestures in the future. His own power depends too much on Communist support.

In short, the surge of Arab nationalism in Iraq destroyed the government of old Nuri Pasha, because he was too subservient to the British. But this same nationalist surge has now produced another weaker man like Nuri, even more dependent on the Kremlin.

The story is not quite over yet. Despite his cheerful acceptance of lavish Soviet aid, Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser has thus far reacted with surprising violence to the growth of Communist power in Iraq. One last, desperate effort to dislodge the new Communist bridgehead in the Arab world is still likely to be made by Nasser and his friends. But the ultimate nightmare of the West's Middle Eastern experts is already pretty close to coming true.

not working properly or has not been installed according to recognized standards.

Most of today's heating problems are traceable to old and improperly installed appliances. The do-it-yourself movement has encouraged the amateur to install gas appliances in bedrooms, bathrooms, and other closed spaces without regard to possible dangers.

There is no harm in this practice provided instructions are followed to the letter in the heater or range is of the approved type. But for real safety, let an expert do the job. As an added precaution, call the gas company to check the installation.

All gas appliances, except certain sealed-in units, should have a vent of adequate size. These devices ought to be tested occasionally to make certain they are operating. A simple match test will demonstrate whether the passageways are open. Three men lost their lives recently because the chimney vent was closed by a bird's nest. In the test for carbon monoxide, a special detector turns brown or black when gas is present.

Small amounts of gas seldom produce symptoms because homes are not airtight. But during cold snaps the equipment may be in constant use and larger amounts of carbon monoxide accumulate. Headache, irritability, and reduced judgment may occur. Higher concentrations lead to confusion, collapse, and unconsciousness.

H. J. writes: My wife likes a temperature of 68 degrees in the home in the wintertime. Isn't this too low? I have to wear a sweater.

REPLY
Yes, this is a switch in that women usually complain about the cold, chiefly because they are underdressed. Some, however, have an overactive thyroid which steps up metabolism. If there is any question of this situation, suggest to your wife that she have a medical consultation.

STROKE AND DISPOSITION
J.F. writes: Is it possible that a stroke could be so mild as to cause no physical signs and yet so severe as to change the personality? The person I refer to—since his stroke—is hard to reason with, suspicious, and cruel.

REPLY
Yes, a change in personality may be the only clue that a minor stroke took place.

NONMETALLIC SPLINTER
N.W. writes: Would X-ray show a wooden or plastic splinter in the foot or does it visualize only metal objects?

REPLY
Metallic splinters always show up, whereas plastic and wood are less likely to do so.

HOSPITAL BLOOD TESTS
W. R. writes: You say there are 60 different types of blood tests. What kind are given in hospitals?

REPLY
Whatever the doctor orders. Most hospitals make a routine practice of doing blood counts and a Kahn for syphilis. Others include the hematocrit and sedimentation rate. From there on, the physician orders whatever tests are needed to help him make the diagnosis or as a follow-up on treatment.

ANEMIC BABIES
Mrs. W. writes: Do anemic infants need iron?

REPLY
Yes, provided an iron deficiency anemia exists. Most infants come into the world with enough iron to last for several months. On the other hand, iron may be lacking if the mother is anemic and cannot supply the proper quota to the child. There is practically no iron in milk, hence anemic infants must be given iron and foods containing this mineral as soon as possible.

BLAME THE PHYSICIAN
W. R. writes: What is iatrogenic disease?

REPLY
A physician-induced disease. For example, during a physical examination of a highly susceptible patient. If the medicofers there is something wrong with the heart, the individual then develops heart symptoms. He becomes convinced that his ticker is acting up and goes from physician to physician until he finds one who agrees with him.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Arlington, Va., 'Hate' Group Mails Literature To Col. Nasser In Cairo

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital, in fact only a stone's throw from the Lincoln Memorial where the Great Emancipator is shown in thoughtful meditation, are the headquarters of one of the most virulent and vitriolic hate-nests in the USA.

It has had contact with those investigated in connection with the bombing of the Atlanta synagogue, draws money from Arab sources, and even sends word of its activities to Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

On February 6 a registered letter was mailed to Nasser from George Lincoln Rockwell, the Arlington, Va., hate-monger who is circulating thousands of copies of petitions calling for the impeachment of Governor Almond. Simultaneously, Rockwell's picture appeared on the front page of Nasser's newspaper El Aharan, though in denial of reports that Nasser had anything to do with the American hate-nest.

The group, which recently assumed the name of "The Virginia Committee to Impeach Governor Almond," gives its mailing headquarters as P.O. Box 1352 in Arlington.

The box was rented on February 3 by Floyd Fleming, grizzled old hate agitator and sidekick of rabble rouser John Kasper. The Seaboard White Citizens Council was built around them. Two of Fleming's henchmen, Eugene Cotton and H. Cary Hansel, also signed the rental papers for the box.

The group operates largely from Rockwell's home at 6512 Williamsburg Boulevard. Rockwell is the son of the prewar radio comedian and rocking chair philosopher "Old Doc" Rockwell whose squeaky voice was once familiar to millions of listeners. The younger Rockwell, whose philosophy has taken a bizarre twist from the horse sense preached by his famous father, stayed as a house guest last May in the home of Mrs. Helen Lane, member of the Arlington School Board. His baggage included a printing press on which he printed hate propaganda in Mrs. Lane's basement. Sieg Heil!

Rockwell's letters to Wallace Allen, a crippled printing salesman, were picked up by Atlanta Police during their investigation of the synagogue bombing. Allen was identified by police as one of the five men who attended a strategy session at which the dynamiting was discussed. Rockwell ended some letters to Allen with the Nazi phrase, "Sieg Heil!" One of his letter referred cryptically to a "big blast," but Rockwell insisted to the FBI that he meant a planned picketing and knew nothing of the subsequent bombing.

One letter also spoke of a "fatcat financier" who turned out to be Harold Noel Arrowsmith Jr., son of the late canon of Baltimore's Episcopal Cathedral. Arrowsmith took offense at the "fatcat" reference, apparently thinking Rockwell was ridiculing his physical plumpness.

Rockwell boasted to associates that "like the Kike" signs, used in picketing the White House, are now in Cairo. What apparently happened, however, is that snapshots of the picketing were forwarded to Cairo. Rockwell also told associates that Arrowsmith had contacts in the "Arab Secret Service."

It happens to be true that Arrowsmith was in touch with Salem Bader, who runs what he calls the Arab-Asian Institute. Bader registered as a foreign agent in 1957 and listed contributions from Saudi Arabia of $500 on March 18, 1957, and another $150 on April 8, 1957. His registration form also listed two $50 payments to Lou Russell on January 7 and 17, 1958; plus payments to a Rea Van Fosson, 12303

Dewey Road, Silver Spring, Md. Van Fosson received $25 on January 27, $50 on February 20, $50 on February 26, $27 on March 27, $27 on March 28 and a final $27 on April 21—all in 1958.

Generous Contributor
Much of the hate-nest across the Potomac was financed by the wealthy preacher's son from Baltimore, Arrowsmith, until he broke with Rockwell. He made the first payment on Rockwell's headquarters and is reported to have poured about $20,000 into the operation, plus about $6,000 for the Rockwell printing press.

Arrowsmith describes himself variously as an anthropologist, biologist and zoologist. He has studied at Harvard, Cornell, Johns Hopkins and the University of California. At the University of Mainz in Germany, he studied races. His reported objective was to prove that the Nordics and the Mediterranean people spring from different races. He also spends much time poring over microfilms in the Library of Congress, searching for "proof" of the "Jewish-Communist conspiracy."

Arrowsmith and Rockwell are reported to have developed a system of code words for their telephone conversations, because they were convinced the phones were tapped. "Eskimo" was the code word for Jew. "Eskimo land" meant Israel. "Eskimo conquest of Russia" was the phrase for the Red revolution. This "Eskimo" talk probably was Rockwell's idea. He re-entered the Navy during the Korean war and was assigned to Iceland, which was about the time he became obsessed with the great Jewish conspiracy. In Iceland, he read Mein Kampf for the first time and has reread it 12 times. He also married the niece of the Icelandic ambassador to the United States and took her to Berchtesgaden for their honeymoon.

Lately, Rockwell has been supplying literature to James Madole who was cited in 1954 by the House Un-American Activities Committee as the would-be Fuehrer of the Nazi-style National Renaissance Party, which attempts to maintain a uniformed "elite guard" in the Hitler tradition.

This is the background of the little group which is sending out thousands of petitions calling for the impeachment of the Governor of Virginia.

The 'Tycoon'

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — Want to be a "tycoon"?

Have a private plane with two pilots at your beck and call?

A Greenwich, Conn., estate? A fleet of expensive automobiles?

Big tax-free expense accounts? Hobnob with important political figures?

It can be done even in these days of high taxes. Very little, if any, cash is required.

In nine short years in this country a young Siberian immigrant has built up a "paper empire" that includes an assortment of enterprises from lace and auto parts to TV movies and a nationwide radio broadcasting system.

He is Alexander L. Guterman, now 46.

Whether he keeps his "empire," the company plane and all that goes with his various executive positions hinges on:

1. The outcome of a Securities and Exchange case, charging violations of its anti-fraud regulations, and

2. On his creditors — mostly money lenders who are collecting interest as high as 2 per cent a month — 24 per cent a year.

Guterman says he was born in Siberia in 1915 and educated in China. His claim to Siberian birth won him release from internment by the Japanese in the Philippines, where he was seeking his fortune at the outbreak of the war.

At the time of the Japanese invasion he was a manager for the American Biscuit Co. in Manila. He remained in the Philippines throughout the war as a neutral operating a general store known as Escolla Auction & Exchange. He stayed there until 1950. His postwar business activities there included films, soap and cosmetics and coconuts.

He came to the U. S. in 1950 under a permanent visa, going to Florida where he became interested in development of fibre from ramie grass. He had a number of small enterprises, which were merged into Shawano Development Corp. He also had an export and import firm, trading with South America. None of these ventures was large.

He came to New York and organized an Over-the-Counter stock selling firm — McGrath Securities. This was a high pressure operation and became one of the largest in the country. Since he sold out to his partner, the firm has gone out of business, after signing in July of last year an SEC consent decree on charges its sale of Micro-Moisture Controls violated the securities law.

Guterman was one of the organizers of Micro-Moisture in 1953 and was chairman of the board, but resigned in 1954. He says he is no longer a stockholder.

Public investors who stayed in Micro-Moisture Controls and Shawano have lost a major part of their investment. Micro-Moisture, brought out at $1, is now quoted one-half a cent bid and one cent offered. Shawno's stock, which was split four for one, is quoted 8½ cents bid, 10 cents asked. The pre-split stock was peddled at $1.25 in 1954.

Two of his other ventures in high finance were in United Dye & Chemical, of which he was board chairman for a time, after buying control from Lowell Birrell, the lawyer, and Bon Ami, which he also had headed.

Guterman got out of both of these companies and some time afterward United Dye was delisted and Bon Ami suspended by the N. Y. Stock Exchange.

He now heads F. L. Jacobs, also listed on the Stock Exchange, which suspended trading in the shares last December. The SEC has just suspended trading on all exchanges and Over-the-Counter in Jacobs stock.

Guterman, who has always operated in his take-overs with large borrowing, hocked his Jacobs stock with two money lenders — a New York firm and a Swiss trust, headed by a scion of the Zilkha family which also figured in some of the high international financing of Leopold D. Silberstein. They have sold some of his Jacobs holdings, because of the Stock Exchange suspension.

The extent of these sales may determine whether Guterman can continue to sit at the head of that "empire." Jacobs controls among other things' Scranton Corp. — the old Scranton Lace Co. — which in turn controls Hal Roach Studios and Mutual Broadcasting.

A Controversial New Proposal

A proposal placed before a meeting of the American Society of Criminology in Washington, D. C., is certain to provoke a great deal of controversy, although its initial impact may be cooled somewhat by somber reflection. This a plan presented by a Michigan physician to allow condemned prisoners to volunteer their bodies for live medical experiments culminating in their execution.

Dr. Jack Kevorkian, author of the plan, received some support from other members of the medical profession and at least one prominent clergyman—Dean Francis B. Sayre Jr. of the Washington Cathedral—who said: "If a man wants to offer his own body, it is his privilege."

Dr. Kevorkian's suggested approach was to allow those prisoners awaiting execution to volunteer their bodies for experimentation, retaining the right to change their minds up to one week prior to the date of execution. All experiments would be conducted under normally prescribed sedation, and after the experiment the condemned man would be put to death as painlessly as possible.

This, contends the physician, would not only advance the cause of medical research immeasurably, but would provide a less painful death than the electric chair or gas chamber. The experiments themselves would be no more discomforting than operations willingly submitted to by thousands of hospital patients every day, he said.

With legal executions in the United States averaging more than 100 a year for the last 10 years, Dr. Kevorkian believes this waste at least could have benefited medical science. "Medical science would be decades in advance of where we now are if the bodies of these men could have been used in research," he said. "We can perform 10 million experiments on mice and rats and it means nothing until you try it on men."

Human vivisection is a provocative idea, certainly, but properly administered it might extract at least some good from the ruined lives of society's condemned men.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

John Foster Dulles

It would seem that John Foster Dulles was born to be Secretary of State. His education was in the direction of international law. His grandfather, John W. Foster, after whom he was named, was Secretary of State in Benjamin Harrison's Cabinet; his uncle, Robert Lansing, was Secretary of State in Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet, and it was Lansing who took Dulles to Paris to see diplomacy at work at the last peace conference this world has known.

It can be said of John Foster Dulles that he has been in and out of the State Department all of his adult life. He started as secretary of The Hague Peace Conference in 1907 (Theodore Roosevelt's Administration). Ten years later, he was a special agent of the State Department in Central America. Since then his public career has been enormous and was finally capped by becoming Secretary of State to President Eisenhower.

Dulles was educated at Princeton, George Washington University and at the Sorbonne and is one of the few Secretaries of State who can speak other languages than English. I recall visiting him in his New York residence before the 1952 Republican Convention and during our discussion, I was able to say to him that although he favored General Eisenhower for President, Senator Robert A. Taft had told me that if nominated and elected he would have John Foster Dulles as his Secretary of State.

Dulles inherited a difficult task as Secretary of State; the difficulties increased and became more complex as his years in that office continued. He not only had to face the problem of liquidating a war which had no victor, but he was called upon to deal with a new device in international relations, the cold war, a creation of Soviet Russia but regarded by some nations as characteristically American. For this, he has been unusually equipped. Few men in this country have devoted as much time and effort and understanding to amassing a working knowledge of Marxism and its application to the Russian Revolution. Long before he became Secretary of State, Dulles studied the psychology of the Russian mind as affected by the Revolution.

He had read enormously in Leninist literature, and could quote at length from some of the works of Stalin. He did not come to his task a starry-eyed liberal or an unregenerated reactionary. He came a man of knowledge who knew the enemy he faced.

While others were taken in by Soviet trickery and the whetting of American appetites by offers of contracts, some of which never went beyond the offer stage, Dulles grasped the nature of Soviet imperialism and its dangers to the United States. His problem has been not to cave in before the Russian attack while at the same time holding the loyalty of our allies who face different and diverting problems.

There have been times when Dulles was extraordinarily unpopular in Europe as well as in the United States. This was not altogether due to Russian propaganda. The man who has often to say, 'No!', is never too popular. And it has been Dulles's lot to say, 'No!', not only to the Russians but to our allies. Furthermore, in the United States many ambitious men who would have appreciated being his successor, never failed to down-grade this able man. He never permitted himself to become involved in personal controversy. He went about his business, traveling from country to country, serving his own people, seeking to preserve our nation's dignity, until his physical strength exhausted, he was forced to see to himself. Few men have served America better.

One can be thankful to God that this is not written as an obituary. We can only pray that his health will be restored. And yet, if it were an obituary, I could not say more. He follows a line of noble figures in our history, Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall, James Madison, James Monroe, Daniel Webster, John Hay, Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and among these he will not be measured as unworthy, for he has never compromised with his basic duty—to keep America free and strong and at peace if possible. Be Sure Your Gas Appliances Work Properly

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many American homes have heating units that are working neither properly or effectively. As a result, they may be giving off unpleasant fumes or lethal doses of carbon monoxide. Call the gas company or heating agent if there is any question along this line.

Heating appliances deserve as much care and attention as the family car. If this were done there would be few deaths from room heaters, furnaces, incinerators or other appliances of this type.

Pure natural sweet gas is odorless but a sulfur compound is added so that escape of fumes will be recognized. Natural gas is not poisonous and inhaling small amounts is harmless. But if enough escapes to crowd out the oxygen from the room, death may occur from suffocation.

Gas needs oxygen to burn properly and safely. Carbon monoxide is produced when combustion is faulty because the appliance is not working properly or has not been installed according to recognized standards.

Most of today's heating problems are traceable to old and improperly installed appliances. The do-it-yourself movement has encouraged the amateur to install gas appliances in bedrooms, bathrooms, and other closed spaces without regard to possible dangers.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital, in fact only a stone's throw from the Lincoln Memorial where the Great Emancipator is shown in thoughtful meditation, are the headquarters of one of the most virulent and vitriolic hate-nests in the USA.

It has had contact with those investigated in connection with the bombing of the Atlanta synagogue, draws money from Arab sources, and even sends word of its activities to Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

On February 6 a registered letter was mailed to Nasser from George Lincoln Rockwell, the Arlington, Va., hate-monger who is circulating thousands of copies of petitions calling for the impeachment of Governor Almond. Simultaneously, Rockwell's picture appeared on the front page of Nasser's newspaper El Aharan, though in denial of reports that Nasser had anything to do with the American hate-nest.

The group, which recently assumed the name of "The Virginia Committee to Impeach Governor Almond," gives its mailing headquarters as P.O. Box 1352 in Arlington.

The box was rented on February 3 by Floyd Fleming, grizzled old hate agitator and sidekick of rabble rouser John Kasper. The Seaboard White Citizens Council was built around them. Two of Fleming's henchmen, Eugene Colton and H. Cary Hansel, also signed the rental papers for the box.

The group operates largely from Rockwell's home at 6312 Williamsburg Boulevard. Rockwell is the son of the prewar radio comedian and rocking chair philosopher "Old Doc" Rockwell whose squeaky voice was once familiar to millions of listeners. The younger Rockwell, whose philosophy has taken a bizarre twist from the horse sense preached by his famous father, stayed as a house guest last May in the home of Mrs. Helen Lane, member of the Arlington School Board. His baggage included a printing press on which he printed hate propaganda in Mrs. Lane's basement. Sieg Heil!

Rockwell's letters to Wallace Allen, a crippled printing salesman, were picked up by Atlanta Police during their investigation of the synagogue bombing. Allen was identified by police as one of the five men who attended a strategy session at which the dynamiting was discussed. Rockwell ended some letters to Allen with the Nazi phrase, "Sieg Heil." One of his letters referred cryptically to a "big blast," but Rockwell insisted to the FBI that he meant a planned picketing and knew nothing of the subsequent bombing.

One letter also spoke of a "fat-cat financier" who turned out to be Harold Noel Arrowsmith Jr., son of the late canon of Baltimore's Episcopal Cathedral. Arrowsmith took offense at the "fatcat" reference, apparently thinking Rockwell was ridiculing his physical plumpness.

Rockwell boasted to associates that "like the Kike" signs, used in picketing the White House, are now in Cairo. What apparently happened, however, is that snapshots of the picketing were forwarded to Cairo. Rockwell also told associates that Arrowsmith had contacts in the "Arab Secret Service."

It happens to be true that Arrowsmith was in touch with Salem Bader, who runs what he calls the Arab-Asian Institute. Bader registered as a foreign agent in 1957 and listed contributions from Saudi Arabia of $500 on March 18, 1957, and another $150 on April 8, 1957. His registration form also listed two $50 payments to Lou Russell on January 7 and 17, 1958; plus payments to a Rea Van Fossom, 12303

Dewey Road, Silver Spring, Md. Van Fossom received $25 on January 27, $50 on February 20, $50 on February 26, $27 on March 27, $27 or March 28, and a final $27 on April 21—all in 1958.

Generous Contributor
Much of the hate-nest across the Potomac was financed by the wealthy preacher's son from Baltimore, Arrowsmith, until he broke with Rockwell. He made the first payment on Rockwell's headquarters and is reported to have poured about $20,000 into the operation, plus about $6,000 for the Rockwell printing press.

Arrowsmith describes himself variously as an anthropologist, biologist and zoologist. He has studied at Harvard, Cornell, Johns Hopkins and the University of California. At the University of Mainz in Germany, he studied races. His reported objective was to prove that the Nordics and the Mediterranean people spring from different races. He also spends much time poring over microfilms in the Library of Congress, searching for "proof" of the "Jewish-Communist conspiracy."

Arrowsmith and Rockwell are reported to have developed a system of code words for their telephone conversations, because they were convinced the phones were tapped. "Eskimo" was the code word for Jew. "Eskimo land" meant Israel. "Eskimo conquest of Russia" was the phrase for the Red revolution. This "Eskimo" idea he re-entered the Navy during the Korean war and was assigned to Iceland, which was about the time he became obsessed with the great Jewish conspiracy. In Iceland, he read Mein Kampf for the first time and has reread it 12 times. He also married the niece of the Icelandic ambassador to the United States and took her to Berchtesgaden for their honeymoon.

Lately, Rockwell has been supplying literature to James Madole who was cited in 1954 by the House Un-American Activities Committee as the would-be Fuehrer of the Nazi-style National Renaissance Party, which attempts to maintain a uniformed "elite guard" in the Hitler tradition.

This is the background of the little group which is sending out thousands of petitions calling for the impeachment of the Governor of Virginia.

The 'Tycoon'

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — Want to be a "tycoon"?

Have a private plane with two pilots at your beck and call?

A Greenwich, Conn., estate?

A fleet of expensive automobiles?

Big tax-free expense accounts? Hobnob with important political figures?

It can be done even in these days of high taxes. Very little, if any, cash is required.

In nine short years in this country a young Siberian immigrant has built up a "paper empire" that includes an assortment of enterprises from lace and auto parts to TV movies and a nationwide radio broadcasting system.

He is Alexander L. Guterman, now 46.

Whether he keeps his "empire," the company plane and all that goes with his various executive positions hinges on:

1. The outcome of a Securities and Exchange case, charging violations of its anti-fraud regulations, and

2. On his creditors — mostly money lenders who are collecting interest as high as 2 per cent a month — 24 per cent a year.

Guterman says he was born in Siberia in 1915 and educated in China. His claim to Siberian birth won him release from internment by the Japanese in the Philippines, where he was seeking his fortune at the outbreak of the war.

At the time of the Japanese invasion he was a manager for the American Biscuit Co. in Manila. He remained in the Philippines throughout the war as a neutral operating a general store known as Escolla Auction & Exchange. He stayed there until 1950. His postwar business activities there included fibres, soap and cosmetics and coconuts.

He came to the U. S. in 1950 under a permanent visa, going to Florida where he became interested in development of fibre from ramie grass. He had a number of small enterprises, which were merged into Shawano Development Corp. He also had an export and import firm, trading with South America. None of these ventures was large.

He came to New York and organized an Over-the-Counter stock selling firm — McGrath Securities. This was a high pressure operation and became one of the largest in the country. Since he sold out to his partner, the firm has gone out of business, after signing in July of last year an SEC consent decree on charges its sale of Micro-Moisture Controls violated the securities law.

Guterman was one of the organizers of Micro-Moisture in 1953 and was chairman of the board, but resigned in 1954. He says he is no longer a stockholder.

Public investors who stayed in Micro-Moisture Controls and Shawano have lost a major part of their investment. Micro-Moisture, brought out at $1, is now quoted one-half a cent bid and one cent offered. Shawno's stock, which was split four for one, is quoted 8 1/2 cents bid, 10 cents asked. The pre-split stock was peddled at $1.25 in 1954.

Two of his other ventures in high finance were in United Dye & Chemical, of which he was board chairman for a time, after buying control from Lowell Birrell, the lawyer, and Bon Ami, which he also had headed.

Guterman got out of both of these companies and some time afterward United Dye was delisted and Bon Ami suspended by the N. Y. Stock Exchange.

He now heads F. L. Jacobs, also listed on the Stock Exchange, which suspended trading in the shares last December. The SEC has just suspended trading on all exchanges and Over-the-Counter in Jacobs stock.

Guterman, who has always operated in his take-overs with large borrowing, hooked his Jacobs stock with two money lenders — a New York firm and a Swiss trust, headed by a scion of the Zilkha family which also figured in some of the high international financing of Leopold D. Silberstein. They have sold some of his Jacobs holdings, because of the Stock Exchange suspension.

The extent of these sales may determine whether Guterman can continue to sit at the head of that "empire." Jacobs controls among other things Seranton Corp. — the old Scranton Lace Co. — which in turn controls Hal Roach Studios and Mutual Broadcasting.

The Loch Ness, Scotland, sea serpent has already made its first appearance of 1959. The monster must be getting a little off in its timing — the tourist season is still some months off.

A highway patrolman who reported spotting the Loch Ness monster says its head was "chalky white." Probably it was more scared that he was!

Isn't it about time the Abominable Snowman put in another appearance? This should certainly be the time of year he likes best.

Multimillionaire Francisco Pignatari of Brazil has been signed by a Hollywood studio for an upcoming movie about a billionaire. Just proves again, says Zadok Dumkopf, that them that has gets.

A South Dakota family has a pet horned owl which talks to its fellow pet, a parakeet. Probably just full of wise cracks.

The order specified that the men shall retain their present seniority and be effective immediately.

Council also approved a motion by Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder that the bid of the Cling, an Electrical Supply Company, be accepted for supplying bulbs, night lights and fluorescent for municipal purposes.

Mrs. Roeder informed council that the Clingan proposal will be effective until next December 31 and would relieve the city of having to stockpile such articles. She was authorized to advertise for bids last November.

The city auditor was authorized to issue a check for $31.42 to Lena Harris for overpayment of city water and sewage charges for 222 Springdale St. et.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Clarence Sheets et al. complainants vs. Katherine S. Plummer et al. No. 22. Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

Man Sentenced To Jail On Motor Counts

A 40-year-old Flintstone area man was sentenced to nine months in jail and fined $300 on two motor vehicle violations yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced the man, James Edward Naill, after finding him guilty of reckless driving and of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license.

Naill was arrested Sunday by State Trooper Kenneth Messmer after trying to catch up with the man for more than a month.

Trooper Messmer testified that on December 21 Naill struck a vehicle on the Georges Road in the Flintstone area. Warrants were issued for his arrest, but Trooper Messmer said numerous trips to the man's home were made in vain.

The trooper said he received a tip that everytime he went to the home, Naill would hide in the attic. Sunday Trooper Messmer went to the home, used a ladder to climb into the attic from the outside and found Naill hiding under a mattress.

During questioning, Naill admitted that several times he hid in the attic when he spotted the trooper approaching the house.

Trooper Messmer introduced as evidence a copy of the man's motor vehicle record which dates back to 1941 and includes 14 previous motor vehicle violations.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Dick noted that it was Naill's fifth conviction on reckless driving and fourth conviction of driving on a revoked license.

Magistrate Dick sentenced the man to six months and a $200 fine for the revoked license charge and 90 days and $100 for reckless driving. The sentences, Magistrate Dick said, will be served concurrently.

However, Naill was sentenced to additional 90 days in default of the $300 imposed in the two fines.

Eagles Plan Memorial

The annual Memorial Service of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held on Sunday, March 8 at 2 p. m. in the Aerie home on North Mechanic Street.

The program is being completed by C. William Baer, chairman, and Herman J. Miller, co-chairman, who said that 44 members who died last year and those who paid the supreme sacrifice during World War II, will be honored.

As in past years, the program will include the processional and invocation as well as the lodge ritual, calling the roll of the honored dead and the memorial pageant, oration and benediction, and a number of music selections during the program.

Legion Meets Tonight

A regular membership meeting of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the home in Ridgely.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Measure your personality along with your ability if you aim for leadership.

Could You Be An Executive?

Women today have so many opportunities for leadership in industry and civic affairs, opportunities for which they are well qualified by many talents and abilities. Is one of these opportunities just around the corner waiting for you, a new executive job at the office, the chairmanship of an important committee? And are you ready for it, with qualifications of personal life to yourself?

Do you have a solid understanding of what your organization is doing if it's a big one, and of what the larger goals are, questions, which require most of all into what kind of person you are:

1. Do you welcome responsibility and know how to make decisions?

2. Does your manner of giving instructions and advice inspire cooperation instead of resentment?

3. Can you delegate duties serenely and avoid hovering and fussing while they're performed?

4. Can you approve the less than perfect efforts of others when the most important thing is to get the job done — rather than hold up progress while you do everything over?

5. Are you as quick to praise as to criticize?

6. Are you interested in other workers as individuals without being too curious about them personally? Do you keep your personal life to yourself?

7. Do you help the advancement of others as well as your own?

8. Do you express yourself well?

9. Are you confident of your appearance?

10. Do you have a solid understanding of what your organization is doing if it's a big one, and of what the larger goals are, questions, which require most of all into what kind of person you are:

11. Are you enthusiastic, and can you spark enthusiasm in others?

12. Can you keep your composure under stress?

Goren On Bridge

East-West vulnerable. West the diamond return East discarded, revealing that the suit would not break.

For declarer to attack clubs himself might lead to the loss of two tricks; so he countered the lead upon East with a trump. East led the jack of clubs, which declarer ducked and so did West. After winning with the queen, declarer led a low club and covered East's five with the nine forcing out the ace.

If at trick three, West leads a low club, South wins with the king and returns a club. If West takes it with the ace and gets out with a club, declarer, with both black suits stripped, throws East in with a trump and compels him to lead the jack of diamonds exposing West's queen to a finesse.

The only logical variation of defense which will defeat the contract is a third round of spades by West when he is in. This gives declarer a ruff and a sluff, but no matter where he takes the discard, he is unable to avoid the loss of four tricks.

Educational Costs Are Not Taxable

Direct costs of education and necessary expenses for travel, meals and lodging while taking educational courses away from home overnight are deductible on the 1958 federal income tax return under one of two conditions.

If the education was undertaken primarily to maintain or improve the skill of a taxpayer required in the performance of his employment duties when the education expense was incurred; or if the education was undertaken primarily to meet the express requirements of a taxpayer's employer, or the requirements of applicable law or regulations imposed as a condition for retaining the taxpayer's present employment, salary or position.

The Internal Revenue Service said you may not deduct expenses for education if the primary purpose for which the education was undertaken was for the purpose of obtaining a new position or a substantial advancement in your position; to fulfill your general educational aspirations or any other personal purpose; or to meet the minimum requirements for qualification or establishment of your intended trade, business or specialty.

The direct costs of education such as books, tuition, laboratory fees etc. are deductible only if you itemize your deductions on page two of your return form 1040. You may not deduct these if you take the standard deduction, use the tax table, or file on card form 1040A.

showed that 4,792 union members had voted to accept the company proposal and 2,118 had rejected it. The workers had begun balloting yesterday morning.

Workers at PPG plants in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Ohio and Missouri voted on the proposal which was worked out last week in Philadelphia by International union officers and company negotiators.

The vote in favor of a return to work was in direct opposition to the officers of several locals. At Ford City and Creighton, Pa., plant, local officers had urged the membership to turn down the company offer for a "better" one.

Auto Industry Hit

The strike began last October after weeks of negotiation had broken off. Libby-Owens-Ford, PPG's biggest competitor, was struck at the same time but the walkout ended a few weeks later with a new two-year contract providing a wage increase.

Negotiations had been held in Miami, Fla., Cincinnati, Ohio; St. Louis, Louisville, Ky., and then Philadelphia where the agreement voted upon yesterday was finally drawn up.

The strike had wide repercussions, especially in the automobile industry where Chrysler Corp. and American Motors felt the hardest pinch. Thousands of Chrysler employees were laid off because of the prolonged walkout.

Reiser said the vote cast by locals was: Clarksburg, W. Va., 707-81; Ford City, 1255-805; Mt. Vernon Ohio, 533-16; Henryetta, Okla., 431-37; Creighton, 1492-1079; Cumberland, Md. 377-1070, and Crystal City, Mo., 1514-56.

Stock Market Generally Firm, Moderately Active

NEW YORK (UPI)—A variety of "special" stocks and groups, influenced by individual news developments, highlighted a generally firm, moderately active stock market.

The changes in these so-called specials ranged to 4 points in either direction.

Tobacco shares, reflecting new lower earnings for 1958, but it recovered 3 points before the close.

Fears that Cuba will expropriate sugar properties sent Cuban American sugar down nearly 5 points.

On the other hand, rising prices for copper metal sent copper stocks up sharply—around 3 points in Kennecott and Miami Copper, in Reynolds Tobacco and Philip Morris. Steels were steady to up. Morris, 2 1/2 points in P. Lorillard, as much as 1 1/2 points in Lukens.

Du Pont slumped 5 points when the industry reported operations declared only the usual tons scheduled at the best level dividend and reported somewhat since early in 1957.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains jumped into strong ranges in deferred contracts, then showed some weakness in nearby, on the Chicago Board of Trade.
Wheat closed off 1/2 cent; new up 1/4 cent; old up 1/4 cent; soybeans up 1/4 cent.
The decline in the March delivery in wheat, and caused the drop from early high levels.
Early milking sent wheat into firm and strong tones early Monday. Commercial selling however, developed and cooled with reports of Southwestern area sales to start the downturn. Old March slipped 1/4 cent, but farmed deferred went 1/4 cent higher. Most terminal selling was from southern Kansas points.
Corn receded from early top levels as commercial houses pushed prices down. Northwest brokers bought March and sent the price up 1/4 cent; selling in September was stopped and the contract held 1/4 cent advance.
In oats there were declines of about 1/4 cent and a bushel. March slipped the heaviest and July stayed about steady.
Steady and firm tones were common in soybeans until the close, when March fell a full cent and July went up with September 1/4 cent a bushel.
Grains at outside markets were firm.

The 30-minute film, "Crimson Shadow," has received considerable favorable comment. Dr. Malin said, particularly among students. A question and answer period follows each showing. Dr. Malin explained, adding that he has also been distributing a reprint of testimony by Dr. Fred Schwarz before the House Un-American Committee. More than 1,700 copies of Dr. Schwarz's testimony have been distributed to schools and churches, Dr. Malin stated.

Dr. Schwarz is the commentator for "Crimson Shadow." Dr. Malin said last night the picture will be shown at LaSalle High School today at 1:30 p. m., at St. Mary's Mothers Club, Thursday; the Church of God, Monday; to the 40 and 8 on March 3 and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, March 10.

Glass Workers Return To PPG Plant

All Locals Approve Plan To End Four-Month Strike

Glass workers began reporting to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 here at midnight, four hours after officials of the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union flashed "All Over" signals to union officials at PPG plants in six states.

Charles O. Buskirk, president of Cumberland Local 180, was notified yesterday at 7:50 p. m. that all locals had voted approval of the back-to-work plan and that the strike was officially ended at 8 p. m.

A short time before, Mr. Buskirk had notified top union officials that an overwhelming majority of the members of the Cumberland local had voted for the agreement reached last Wednesday.

As soon as official word of the strike's end was received here, Works 7 began calling workers on the midnight shift.

J. B. White, manager, said regular day turn employees will report for work today at 8 a. m. as the plant starts up on rotating shifts.

The workers who reported back to work at midnight are making preparations for resumption of production.

"We plan to start making glass at the earliest possible date under the circumstances. The minimum start-up time will be four days, and full operation will take approximately a week," Mr. White said.

The tank has been kept hot during the 132 days the Cumberland plant has been out of operation.

477 Vote Here
Local 180 members yesterday approved the return-to-work plan by an overwhelming majority, according to Mr. Buskirk.

He said 477 of the 554 members of the union voted yesterday in secret balloting held in the Woodmen's Hall.

The election was conducted by three Catholic priests, Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Rev. Marius Elsenor, OFM, Cap., pastor of St. Peter and Paul Church, and Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor at St. Peter and Paul parish.

Union officials said several Protestant ministers also were asked to help conduct the election but reported they had to attend a Cumberland Ministerial Association meeting at noon.

Both Move Fast
Tally sheets for the secret election are being forwarded to the International Union office, the union said.

Both union and company officials moved fast last night to get the struck plants back into production, idle since midnight October 7.

At 8:05 p. m., company officials here advised they were trying to contact employees on the midnight shift, notifying them to report to work.

Near normal crews are expected to report for work today to speed the process of getting the plant ready for production.

Vote Approved
The official end of the strike, which had idled 13,000 glass workers, was announced by Ralph Reiser, international president of the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

Reiser said an official count (Continued on Page 12)

Injuries Fatal To Woman Hurt In Auto Crash

Mrs. Anna Nesbitt Injured February 8

A 61-year-old local woman, who sustained a left hip injury in an auto accident near Pleasantville, Pa. on February 8, died yesterday in Sacred Heart Hospital.

She was Mrs. Anna May Nesbitt, of 218 South Smallwood Street, who was employed as a cook at the Spaghetti House, 16 South Mechanic Street.

Her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, same address, who was driving the car, was bruised in the accident which occurred about 8 p. m. February 8 some three miles northwest of Pleasantville on Pennsylvania Route 56.

Mrs. Nesbitt was thrown from the car which went out of control and rammed into a tree to the left of the highway. Mrs. Hamilton said the car apparently hit a patch of ice under the gravel and went out of control.

A passerby, Dalton Lease who lives near Highland, and is employed at a local grocery store, brought Mrs. Nesbitt and her daughter to Sacred Heart Hospital for treatment.

A native of Artemas, Pa., Mrs. Nesbitt was a daughter of the late Jesse and Elizabeth (Riley) Diehl. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Also surviving besides her daughter, are five other children, Mrs. Mary Rhoades, Johnstown, Pa.; Howard C. Nesbitt, Altoon, Ill.; Mrs. Frances Myers, Johnstown; Robert Nesbitt, this city, and Mrs. Elva Mae Hinz, Kennett, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Cora Shahan, Rowlesburg, W. Va.; a brother, Parley Diehl, Keyser, W. Va.; 13 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Near Capacity Crowd Enjoys Symphony Here

A near capacity crowd last night heard the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra play a concert in the Fort Hill High School auditorium which also included two encores.

There were only a few vacant seats in the large auditorium for this second concert in three years sponsored by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company. The renowned orchestra made its first appearance here about this time two years ago.

Members of the orchestra came here from Pittsburgh in three buses. The musicians remained overnight at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. They will go from here to Harrisburg, Pa., for a concert tonight.

Man Is Sentenced To 30 Days In Jail

Mike Mooney, 412 South Cedar Street, was given a 30-day term in the Allegheny County Jail on charges of being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man yesterday in Police Court. Mr. Mooney was treated Sunday evening at Memorial Hospital for head lacerations police said he received while creating a disturbance at his home.

Await Chance To Cast Ballots

Four members of Cumberland Local 180, United Glass and Ceramics Workers, are waiting at the Woodmen's Hall here to participate in balloting which early last night ended a lengthy strike at the PPG's Works 7 here. In the group are Franklin

D. Heaveney, James H. Ritchie, Joseph L. Falconi, inner guard, and Gilbert P. Beeman. Members here voted by an overwhelming majority to approve the back to work plan presented to the local Sunday.

Reorganization Of SRC Starts With Chairman

McMullen Takes Over Top Duties

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes, in effect, began reorganizing the State Roads Commission Monday.

John J. McMullen, of Cumberland, who backs Tawes' roads proposals, took over as chairman from Robert O. Bonnell, who has expressed opposition to them.

McMullen, at his swearing in ceremony in Baltimore, said an expanded commission as proposed by Tawes will give localities more voice in road development.

Bonnell feels large roads commissions are cumbersome and slower to make decisions. Tawes has indicated he'll not fill the SRC vacancy created when McMullen moved up to the chairmanship. The remaining member of the commission is Edgar T. Bennett.

McMullen, Cumberland publisher, is expected to serve until June 1 when Tawes' proposed SRC reorganization would go into effect. The proposal is expected to easily win General Assembly approval.

The plan calls for abolishing the present 3-man commission and replacing it with a seven-member agency headed by a director of highways.

Six members would represent various regions of the State and decide on secondary roads jobs. The director would oversee primary highway development.

McMullen told newsmen after his swearing in that he had "no apprehension" about the proposed enlargement of the commission and that concentrating the primary highway program in the hands of a director was a good idea.

McMullen agreed with Bonnell's previous position that the State road program is two years behind because of lack of funds and stepped-up highway standards. McMullen said he felt the road-rebuilding program would be substantially completed on schedule under the revised 15-year program.

Gov. Tawes, Atty. Gen. Sybert, other roads officials and members of McMullen's family were among the some 25 persons who attended the swearing in ceremonies. Mrs. McMullen, son Hugh A. McMullen, a Cumberland attorney, and son-in-law Del. William Walsh (D-Allegheny) were present.

Bonnell, who presented McMullen with the "key to the chairman's office" was named SRC chairman by former Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. After Democrat Tawes was elected, Bonnell resigned, as of Monday.

College Students To Take Senate Passes County Conservation Trip

Members of a class at Frostburg State Teachers College, who are studying the conservation of natural resources, plan on taking a series of field trips in Maryland including one in Allegany County and another in Garrett County.

Tomorrow the group will take a trip along Williams Road, Murley's Branch and the orchards of Irons Mountain. They will be accompanied by their instructor, Don A. Emerson, who teaches biological sciences at the college.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service Office here, will be in charge of the trip. He will show different types of soil, point out proper land use, cover crops, contour strips and orchard culture.

The trip will begin about 4 p. m. tomorrow and last until dark. On Saturday, Mr. Gordon will take the members of the class on a tour of the clay mines of Barrellville. The trip will begin about 9 a. m. and last until noon.

During the course of the present semester Mr. Emerson said the students will tour the forest areas of Garrett County. This phase will be under the direction of William H. Johnson, district forester.

Other field trips scheduled include one to the Solomon Islands and the Chesapeake Bay area where the students will observe marine life, especially the oyster and crab. They will visit the Biological Laboratory of the Department of Research Education at the Solomon Islands.

Another trip will be to Chincoteague Bay and Ocean City, where additional marine life will be studied. This will include the study of fish brought in on vessels.

Mr. Emerson taught a similar course at Western Maryland College. Last summer the course was offered at Frostburg under his instruction and a number of teachers of the college took the course.

Grooming Is Subject Of 4-H Meeting

A good grooming program which may develop into a statewide 4-H Club project will be discussed here today by local and area 4-H Club leaders.

James Arnold, assistant farm agent of Allegheny County in charge of 4-H Club work, said the meeting will begin at 10 a. m. in the office of Joseph M. Steger, farm agent at the Court House.

State representatives as well as assistant home demonstration agents and assistant county farm agents of Allegheny, Garrett, and Washington counties plan to attend.

Charlotte Conaway and Roy Cassell, assistant state 4-H Club agents, are expected to attend. Mr. Arnold and Nancy Marsteller of Allegheny County will attend.

Garrett County will be represented by Joanna Stull and Rankin Lusby while Washington County will be represented by Joan Kerschner and Richard Schukraft.

The group will discuss good grooming for club members and will study the possibility of an area and state project.

Selecting the basic wardrobe, matching colors and pattern styles will be discussed, Mr. Arnold said.

Man Being Held In Stamp Theft

A local man was arrested yesterday and is being held in City Jail for questioning in the theft of S&H green stamps from a Cumberland service station.

Lt. James E. Van and Detective Thomas J. See picked up the man yesterday. They said the stamps were reported missing by Athey's Esso Servicenter.

Beer Tax Boost To Finance Vets Bonus Proposed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Leaders of military veterans served notice Monday night by an invasion of the Maryland legislature they still want a bonus.

William R. Clay, chairman of the Allied Maryland Veterans Council, estimated that 400 had responded to his post card invitation to come and "let the members of the legislature know that the Maryland veterans are interested in legislation which affects them."

Del. Hodges (D-Balto 6th), who had just received a citation from the council for "meritorious service," then announced to the House he would introduce Tuesday a bill recommended by a commission for a veterans bonus financed by increasing the tax on beer from 3 to 10 cents a gallon.

Hodges said he had 29 sponsors and urged more with the declaration "tonight is the night, tomorrow is too late." Several other delegates came up to add their names to the bill.

If passed by the General Assembly, a feat accomplished only once before, it would be subject to signature by Gov. Tawes and then approval of the voters in 1960. The only other time a vets bonus was passed by the Legislature it was vetoed by Gov. McKeldin.

Walsh Proposal Passes House By 95-12 Vote

Delegate William Walsh's bill to authorize the State Roads Commission to purchase land and the State Department of Forests and Parks to develop it as recreation areas adjacent to U. S. Route 40 from Hancock to the Pennsylvania line passed in the House of Delegates last night, 95-12.

Delegate Cannon, a Wicomico County Democrat, questioned the procedure in expending road funds instead of those from the Forestry Department. The Associated Press said this was the first penetrating questioning of a bill in the House since it started its session January 7.

Mr. Walsh reported in answer to the Wicomico County delegate's question that the measure had been endorsed by the SRC as a means of inducing more traffic on the road and thereby bringing more gasoline taxes.

Vandals Impair Equipment Here

City Police are checking reported vandalism to construction equipment belonging to the George F. Hazelwood Company at the thruway site for State Route 51.

The superintendent of the construction work reported to police that vandals were breaking windows in the large shovel, trucks gasoline pumps, placing dirt in oil filters of company tractors, and left the motor to the huge earth mover running overnight.

Registration cards of the vehicles have been stolen. Police said they were told papers in the vehicles have been scattered over the floors of the equipment. Most of the damage has occurred over weekends when the equipment is idle, the superintendent reported.

Tawes Signs 57 Bills Into Law

Garrett Women Get Jury Duty

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Administrators of wealthy estates are to receive double their former commissions, an increase which aroused a lot of sideline talk at the Maryland Legislature.

Gov. Tawes signed the bill Monday which allows administrators of estates in excess of $20,000 a commission of 4 per cent. They are allowed up to 10 per cent below $20,000.

The bill was among 57 signed by the new governor who previously had signed eight bills into laws.

Another pair of measures signed by Gov. Tawes eliminated the last barriers to women serving on juries in Maryland. One bill eliminated the ban against them in Garrett and Howard counties. The other removed their use of their sex as an excuse against serving.

This left only Charles, St. Marys and Calvert counties where a female now may be excused only by reason of her sex.

The governor's pen also will require anyone in the future challenging another voter to do so by affidavit and on personal knowledge. This stricter requirement for challenging eligibility of a voter arose from Baltimore City politics, but will be statewide in application.

Another political bill signed by the Democratic governor will reduce minority representation on the Legislative Council to two. In the past, it was at least four.

Democratic leaders moved for the reduction on the basis of last November's elections which reduced the number of Republican delegates to seven out of 123 and the senators to 3 out of 29.

Cumberland Ministerial Groups Unite

Three Good Friday Services Planned

The South Cumberland Ministerial Association yesterday united with the Cumberland Ministerial Association at a luncheon meeting of the groups at Central YMCA.

The plans for the two associations to unite into one organization had been decided previously at meetings of executive committees of the two ministerial groups.

The merger was completed because members of both groups felt there was a duplication of efforts in projects, work and activities of the two associations.

Members of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association, a special group composed of South End pastors, also belonged to the Cumberland Ministerial Association. Rev. Wayne Eberly, president of the South Cumberland group, is secretary for the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, president of the Cumberland association, said last night the official uniting of the two groups was approved at yesterday's meeting at which 30 members were present.

Plans for Good Friday special services also were formulated at yesterday's meeting. These services, sponsored by the association, will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, Zion Methodist Church and Centre Street Methodist Church. Members of the association will conduct and participate in these three special celebrations.

Also on the agenda of yesterday's luncheon meeting was Miss Ethel Wilderman, executive director of the Allegheny County Welfare Board, who spoke to the ministers on child welfare, foster care and adoption services handled by the welfare group.

Health Director Will Speak At CUF Meeting

Election Planned For February 25

Edward V. Graef, executive director of the Health Research and Services Foundation of Allegheny County, Pa., has been named principal speaker for the annual meeting and election of officers of County United Fund, to be held Wednesday, February 25, at the Cumberland Country Club at 7 p. m.

Mr. Graef was invited to speak here after local United Fund officials heard him speak at a recent health meeting in Pittsburgh, where he went to work as executive director of the HRSF in May, 1958, following an outstanding record in the fund-raising and health foundation field.

Prior to taking over the big Pittsburgh health foundation, he was executive director of the United Fund of Durham, N. C., where he helped to organize the first health foundation in the United States.

In addition to founding, organizing and administering the Better Health Foundation of Durham—recognized as one of the first voluntary agencies to concern itself with the total needs of the community—Graef served as executive director of the Durham Community Chest and United Fund.

Having behind him 15 years in the fund-raising field, Mr. Graef was a former Pennsylvania chest worker, serving on the staffs of the Community Chest of Allegheny County and the Pittsburgh Red Cross chapter between 1947 and 1949.

Prior to his Pittsburgh chest experience, he served with the Rochester, N. Y. Community Chest in 1947. In July, 1949, he was named executive director of the Durham Community Chest and Community Planning Council, as well as director of the United Fund.

Mr. Graef enlisted in World War II as an infantry private and rose to the rank of captain. He received a citation for the legion of merit and was awarded the bronze star.

The speaker is a graduate of Ohio State University, where he received his master's degree in social administration.

Glass Workers Return To PPG Plant

All Locals Approve Plan To End Four-Month Strike

Glass workers began reporting to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 here at midnight, four hours after officials of the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union flashed "All Over" signals to union officials at PPG plants in six states.

Charles O. Buskirk, president of Cumberland Local 180, was notified yesterday at 7:50 p. m. that all locals had voted approval of the back-to-work plan and that the strike was officially ended at 8 p. m.

A short time before, Mr. Buskirk had notified top union officials that an overwhelming majority of the members of the Cumberland local had voted for the agreement reached last Wednesday.

As soon as official word of the strike's end was received here, Works 7 began calling workers on the midnight shift.

J. B. White, manager, said regular day turn employees will report for work today at 8 a. m. as the plant starts up on rotating shifts.

The workers who reported back to work at midnight are making preparations for resumption of production.

"We plan to start making glass at the earliest possible date under the circumstances. The minimum start-up time will be four days, and full operation will take approximately a week," Mr. White said.

The tank has been kept hot during the 132 days the Cumberland plant has been out of operation.

Local 180 members yesterday approved the return-to-work plan by an overwhelming majority, according to Mr. Buskirk.

He said 477 of the 554 members of the union voted yesterday in secret balloting held in the Woodmen's Hall.

The election was conducted by three Catholic priests, Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church; Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church; and Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor at SS. Peter and Paul parish.

Union officials said several Protestant ministers also were asked to help conduct the election but reported they had to attend a Cumberland Ministerial Association meeting at noon.

Both Move Fast
Tally sheets for the secret election are being forwarded to the International Union office, the union said.

Both union and company officials moved fast last night to get the struck plants back into production, idle since midnight October 7.

At 8:05 p. m., company officials here advised they were trying to contact employees on the midnight shift, notifying them to report to work.

Near normal crews are expected to report for work today to speed the process of getting the plant ready for production.

The official end of the strike, which had idled 13,000 glass workers, was announced by Ralph Reiser, international president of the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

Injuries Fatal To Woman Hurt In Auto Crash

Mrs. Anna Nesbitt Injured February 8

A 61-year-old local woman, who sustained a left hip injury in an auto accident near Pleasantville, Pa., on February 8, died yesterday in Sacred Heart Hospital.

She was Mrs. Anna May Nesbitt, of 218 South Smallwood Street, who was employed as a cook at the Spaghetti House, 16 South Mechanic Street.

Her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, same address, who was driving the car, was bruised in the accident which occurred about 8 p. m. February 8 some three miles northwest of Pleasantville on Pennsylvania Route 56.

Mrs. Nesbitt was thrown from the car which went out of control and rammed into a tree to the left of the highway. Mrs. Hamilton said the car apparently hit a patch of ice under the gravel and went out of control.

A passerby, Dalton Lease who lives near Hyndman, and is employed at a local grocery store, brought Mrs. Nesbitt and her daughter to Sacred Heart Hospital for treatment.

A native of Artemus, Pa., Mrs. Nesbitt was a daughter of the late Jesse and Elizabeth (Riley) Diehl. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Also surviving besides her daughter, are five other children, Mrs. Mary Rhoades, Johnstown, Pa.; Howard C. Nesbitt, Alto, Ill.; Mrs. Frances Myers, Johnstown; Robert Nesbitt, this city; and Mrs. Elva Mae Hinz, Kennett, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Cora Shahan, Rowlesburg, W. Va.; a brother, Parley Diehl, Keyser, W. Va.; 13 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Reorganization Of SRC Starts With Chairman

McMullen Takes Over Top Duties

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes, in effect, began reorganizing the State Roads Commission Monday.

John J. McMullen, of Cumberland, who backs Tawes' roads proposals, took over as chairman from Robert O. Bonnell, who has expressed opposition to them.

McMullen, at his swearing in ceremony in Baltimore, said an expanded commission as proposed by Tawes will give localities more voice in road development.

Bonnell feels large roads commissions are cumbersome and slower to make decisions.

Tawes has indicated he'll not fill the SRC vacancy created when McMullen moved up to the chairmanship. The remaining member of the commission is Edgar T. Bennett.

McMullen, Cumberland publisher, is expected to serve until June 1 when Tawes' proposed SRC reorganization would go into effect. The proposal is expected to easily win General Assembly approval.

The plan calls for abolishing the present 3-man commission and replacing it with a seven-member agency headed by a director of highways.

Six members would represent various regions of the State and decide on secondary roads jobs. The director would oversee primary highway development.

McMullen told newsmen after his swearing in that he had "no apprehension" about the proposed enlargement of the commission and that concentrating the primary highway program in the hands of a director was a good idea.

McMullen agreed with Bonnell's previous position that the State's road program is two years behind because of lack of funds and stepped-up highway standards. McMullen said he felt the road-rebuilding program would be substantially completed on schedule under the revised 15-year program.

Gov. Tawes, Atty. Gen. Sybert, other roads officials and members of McMullen's family were among the some 25 persons who attended the swearing-in ceremonies. Mrs. McMullen, son Hugh A. McMullen, a Cumberland attorney, and son-in-law Del. William Walsh (D-Allegany) were present.

Bonnell, who presented McMullen with the "key to the chairmanship's office" was named SRC chairman by former Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. After Democrat Tawes was elected, Bonnell resigned, as of Monday.

College Students To Take County Conservation Trip

Members of a class at Frostburg State Teachers College, who are studying the conservation of natural resources, plan on taking a series of field trips in Maryland including one in Allegany County and another in Garrett County.

Tomorrow the group will take a trip along Williams Road, Murley's Branch and the orchards of Irons Mountain. They will be accompanied by their instructor, Don A. Emerson, who teaches biological sciences at the college.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service Office here, will be in charge of the trip. He will show different types of soil, point out proper land use, cover crops, contour strips and orchard culture.

The trip will begin about 4 p. m. tomorrow and last until dark. On Saturday, Mr. Gordon will take the members of the class on a tour of the clay mines of Barrellville. The trip will begin about 9 a. m. and last until noon.

During the course of the present semester Mr. Emerson said the students will tour the forest areas of Garrett County. This phase will be under the direction of William H. Johnson, district forester.

Other field trips scheduled include one to the Solomon Islands and the Chesapeake Bay area where the students will observe marine life, especially the oyster and crab. They will visit the Biological Laboratory of the Department of Research Education at the Solomon Islands.

Another trip will be to Chincoteague Bay and Ocean City, where additional marine life will be studied. This will include the study of fish brought in on vessels.

Mr. Emerson taught a similar course at Western Maryland College. Last summer the college was offered at Frostburg under his instruction and a number of teachers of the college took the course.

Senate Passes Fire Company, Burial Bills

Adopts Law Library, Jury Session Plans

The Senate last night approved and sent to the House bills introduced by State Senator Charles M. See to boost burial allowances for the needy aged and to provide county aid for the Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company.

The first is Senate Bill 150, which would increase from $100 to $150 the amount county welfare departments may pay for funerals of recipients of old-age assistance. This is the same as is provided for the needy blind.

William R. Clay, chairman of the Allied Maryland Veterans Council, estimated that 400 had responded to his post card invitation to come and "let the members of the legislature know that the Maryland veterans are interested in legislation which affects them."

Del. Hodges (D-Balto 6th), who had just received a citation from the council for "meritorious service," then announced to the House he would introduce Tuesday a bill recommended by a commission for a veterans bonus financed by increasing the tax on beer from 3 to 10 cents a gallon.

Hodges said he had 29 sponsors and urged more with the declaration "tonight is the night, tomorrow is too late." Several other delegates came up to add their names to the bill.

If passed by the General Assembly, a feat accomplished only once before, it would be subject to signature by Gov. Tawes and then approval of the voters in 1960. The only other time a veto bonus was passed by the Legislature it was vetoed by Gov. McKeldin.

He said his Senate Bill 234, authorizing the county to turn over $2,000 to Friends Averse of Handicapped Children for a survey of handicapped children, will go to its third reading in the Senate Wednesday.

The Senate also approved two Allegany County Delegation bills and sent them to the Governor for signing.

They are House Bill 201, to allow the county to pay up to $3,000 annually for the support of the Allegany County law library and House Bill 202, to make the January term of Circuit Court a non-jury session.

Tawes Signs 57 Bills Into Law

Garrett Women Get Jury Duty

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Administrators of wealthy estates are to receive double their former commissions, an increase which aroused a lot of sideline talk at the Maryland Legislature.

Gov. Tawes signed the bill Monday which allows administrators of estates in excess of $20,000 a commission of 4 per cent. They are allowed up to 10 per cent below $20,000.

The bill was among 57 signed by the new governor who previously had signed eight bills into laws.

Another pair of measures signed by Gov. Tawes eliminated the last barriers to women serving on juries in Maryland. One bill eliminated the ban against them in Garrett and Howard counties. The other removed their use of their sex as an excuse against serving.

This left only Charles, St. Marys and Calvert counties where a female now may be excused only by reason of her sex.

The governor's pen also will require anyone in the future challenging another voter to do so by affidavit and on personal knowledge. This stricter requirement for challenging eligibility of a voter arose from Baltimore City politics, but will be statewide in application.

Another political bill signed by the Democratic governor will reduce minority representation on the Legislative Council to two. In the past, it was at least four.

Democratic leaders moved for the reduction on the basis of last November's elections which reduced the number of Republican delegates to seven out of 123 and the senators to 3 out of 29.
